Charles Holz and Son Walter Wounded While Blasting Stumps

DAUGHTER FINDS BODIES

Young Man Loses Eye and Doctors Have Little Hope of Saving Life

Charles Holz, 75, is dead and his son Walter, about 26 years old, is in St. Elizabeth hospital in a grave condition as the result of a premature explosion of dynamite used in blasting stumps at the Holz farm in town of Center Thursday afternoon.

Both men lay in the field for more than two hours before the tragedy was discovered by Selma Holz, a daughter of the dead farmer. Charles Holz was killed outright, the attending physician believes, and Walter is suffering with a compound fracture at the front of the skull and lacerations of the face and body. One eye was lost and there is doubt about retaining the sight of the other. Only slight hope is held out for his recovery.

SURVIVOR CAN'T TALK

The younger man's condition has made it impossible for him to give an account of how the accident happened. It is believed, however, that the two men were preparing the blast next to a stump, and that the explosion came while they were working on the charge. The faces and bodies of both were burned badly by powder and the wounds were not those which would be caused by flying pieces of wood or debris. The senior Mr. Holz evidently was holding the charge in his right hand while the other man was working to place it, because two bones in the hand were broken. First reports were that the charge had failed to go off and that the accident happened when they went back to find out why.

DAUGHTER FINDS BODIES

Both men had their homes located on the Center Black Creek town line road at noon and went to a clump of woods on the farm. They had been engaged in blasting there all this week with dynamite, intending to clear the land of stumps. One blast was heard by the family about 12 o'clock and another about 2:30.

When the men did not come home at the usual hour for supper, Mrs. Holz sent her daughter Selma to summon them. The girl found her father dead and her brother almost unconscious. The automobile which they had driven to the scene of work stood nearby.

CLIMBS INTO CAR

Walter Holz was able to rouse himself enough to climb into the car with the girl and operate the mechanism so the engine could be started. The girl never had driven an automobile but steered it to the home with the wounded man so help could be obtained. A physician who was summoned made the trip of 15 miles from Appleton in 18 minutes, it was said. Neighbors who were summoned conveyed the father's body home from the woods and also took the injured man to St. Elizabeth hospital, Appleton. The latter is resting comfortably. He was unconscious only a short time.

A watch carried by Charles Holz stopped about 2:30, and this is believed to have been the time when the blast occurred.

Funeral services for Mr. Holz will be held at 1:30 Sunday afternoon from the home and then from the Evangelical church at Center, with the Rev. W. J. Abe in charge.

Mr. Holz is survived by his widow, three sons, nine daughters, 26 grandchildren, one sister and one brother. He came to America from Germany when 19 years old and had been a resident of this locality most of the time.

JUDGE ACQUITTED OF WARD'S CHARGE

By Associated Press

Crandon—James Walsh, former county judge of Forest county, was acquitted on the first ballot of a jury here late Thursday of serious charges preferred by his 15-year-old ward.

The jury was out five minutes when it returned with its verdict of not guilty.

Judge James Wickham of Eau Claire instructed the jury soon after Walsh completed telling his story regarding his relation with his ward. The outstanding features of the trial were the testimonies of character witnesses put on the stand by the defense counsel, who in almost every instance agreed that the girl's character was questionable.

Judge Walsh was served with a warrant for serious charges on Jan. 18. An affidavit signed by the girl charged the judge with attacks on several occasions. She had been under the guardianship of Walsh as an illegitimate.

Deed Guards Tree Life On Gift Of Land

By Associated Press

Hart, Mich.—Perpetual forest preservation is provided for the first time so far as known here by a warranty deed which was prepared for record here Friday in a transfer of two acres to Christian J. Ecks, an evangelist, and his wife, for the purpose of erecting an evangelistic tabernacle, a missionary rest and probably a training school.

The conservation provision was inserted in the deed by the seller, Mrs. Anna Gurney Burr of Chicago who sold the nearly land a few years ago for the John Gurney park, a memorial to her brother, a West Point man who was killed in the charge of San Juan hill, in the Spanish American war.

The deed reserves the ownership to Mrs. Burr of all trees shrubbery and lumber and forbids the cutting or removal of the same without her written consent. She likewise agrees not to cut or remove the timber or bushes without the written consent of the Ecks. Mrs. Burr's husband has long been an advocate of conservation of all forms of life.

MINERS ATTACK PRESIDENT WHEN SESSION BEGINS

Expulsion of Deposed Chief Is Main Bone of Contention in Conclave

By Associated Press

Peoria, Ill.—Attacks on international President John L. Lewis and his administration opened Friday's session of the Illinois Mine Workers convention.

Expulsion of Howat, deposed president of the Kansas miners, was the chief bone of contention, the insurgent element demanding a special international convention solely for the purpose of hearing Howat.

Other resolutions, including one denouncing Mr. Lewis for prolonging the last international convention at Indianapolis and demanding another special convention "to impeach him in due legal form." Four instances are given wherein it is alleged Mr. Lewis violated the international constitution by "arbitrary rulings."

Insurgents are hoping that Mr. Howat will arrive Friday to speak before the convention in line with the invitation voted him. They also are preparing for an energetic attack on both state president Farrington and international President Lewis when the resolution quoting what is purported to be certain personal letters which passed between the two officials is presented for debate by the resolutions committee.

UNIVERSITY GETS GIFT OF $250,000

By Associated Press

Chicago—A gift of $250,000 for the creation of a memorial to the late George R. Thorne was presented at noon Friday to the trustees of Northwestern university by Mrs. Ellen Cobb Thorne, his widow. Mrs. Thorne is a sister of Mrs. A. Montgomery Ward who last winter presented the university with a fund for the erection of a medical dental center upon the same site.

George R. Thorne, for 40 years a business associate of Montgomery Ward, was a pioneer of Chicago business and a lieutenant, quartermaster in the army during the Civil war. The mail order business in which he was associated with Ward was founded in 1872, the original office being located a few blocks from the site of the proposed Thorne and Ward memorials.

The bank is capitalized at $25,000 with a surplus of $10,000 and total deposits of $168,000. A. J. McLennan is president of the bank and R. H. Ashley is cashier.

GROSSMAN CASE GIVES RISE TO LEGAL PUZZLE

Department of Justice Seeks Precedents for Action of Chicago Court

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—With Philip Grossman held in jail in Chicago despite an extension of presidential clemency, department of justice officials have begun a study of legal authorities and precedents for the action of the Chicago court in overriding the president's action.

Attorney General Stone feels that the situation has developed involved and technical legal points that require careful consideration. For that reason, he has declined to express an official opinion. Grossman, a former saloon keeper, was sentenced for contempt of court and the sentence was commuted by President Coolidge.

Some department officials hold the view that the president's authority is supreme in the exercise of clemency, but it is conceded that precedents are conflicting.

The case of Comptroller Craig of the city of New York recently presented a question similar to that involved in the holding of Grossman and in that case Attorney General Daugherty upheld the president's right to act in contempt cases.

REPORTED DEATH OF SUN IS DENIED

South China Leader Alive and Well According to Secretary

By Associated Press

Hongkong—Dr. Sun Yat Sen, president of the South China government whose death was reported to have occurred Tuesday, is alive and perfectly well, his confidential secretary declared emphatically Friday to a representative of "The Associated Press," sent from Hongkong to Sun's Canton headquarters.

Rumors have been current that reports of Dr. Sun's death were untrue. Upon being assured that the South China leader still is alive, the correspondent requested an interview with him.

"This was denied," the correspondent cabled to Hongkong. "The secretary said Sun Yat Sen did not feel disposed upon to prove to anybody that he is not dead in view of categorical statements to the contrary which have been issued at Sun's headquarters."

Dr. Sun, the secretary added, is "perfectly well after an indisposition that could not be termed an illness." However the opinion still prevails in Hongkong that if the constitutional party chief is not dead, he at least is suffering from a severe mental breakdown. It is said his condition has been such that none but members of his family is permitted to see him.

DRY SQUADS PLAN NEW GOTHAM RAID

New York—Dry agents are prepared for further forays in the cabarets of the white light district. These raids, starting with the padding of nine cabarets and continuing Thursday night with the arrest of the manager, head waiter and four waiters of the select Piccadilly Rensselaers, are part of an offensive designed to dry up Broadway by summer, according to Ralph Oyster, chief of the prohibition division, who conducted the Piccadilly raid, accompanied by two women in evening dress.

Oyster declared prohibition agents had an abundance of evidence against virtually all resorts in the district serving liquor and would raid and raid again until Broadway was as dark as Tenthaven.

MODERNISM QUESTION IS PLACED BEFORE CHURCH

Austin, Tex.—The questions of "Darwinism" and "modernism" were placed squarely before the national general assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian church in the first business session of the ninety-fourth convention here Friday. The problem came to the front in a resolution demanding that the church take a stand "squarely, fixedly and unmovably against these infidel theories."

NEW FARM HELP BILL FAVORED BY LAWMAKERS

Measure Proposed by W. I. Drummonds May Be Welcome Substitute

ELIMINATES NEW EXPENSE

Suggestion Involves Use of Principle of Protective Tariff

By David Lawrence

Copyright 1924 By The Post Pub. Co. Washington, D. C.—President Coolidge and his cabinet are considering a new plan for agricultural relief proposed by the international farm congress and suggested by W. I. Drummond, chairman of its board of governors. It may prove a substitute for the McNary-Haugen bill. Although it is not politics for them to say so at this time, some of the proponents of the McNary-Haugen bill are ready to accept the new plan. Informally some members of the administration have approved it. For briefly, it involves no excessive government appropriations, no marketing machinery of a governmental kind, no interference by the government in private business, no requirement to merchandise any portion of farm products or any disturbance of existing channels of trade.

ESSENTIAL POINTS

But it does not involve the use of the principle of the protective tariff. Here are the essential points in the scheme:

"Whenever the president finds that there is a surplus for export of a principal agricultural or livestock product, together with a world price, basis of such a product so low as to cause distress to American producers thereof by reason of the price received for the exportable portion controlling and depressing the domestic price, he shall declare an emergency in respect to the product concerned."

"Whenever an emergency has been so declared, an export equalization fee shall be paid upon such portion of the product concerned as is exported. Such fee shall be approximately equivalent to the tariff upon imports into the United States of the product concerned, but not less than one percent of the value of the product."

"An export tax shall be levied upon all of the product concerned which is sold during the emergency period. The export tax shall be calculated to produce an amount sufficient to pay the export equalization fee as well as the expenses of operation, together with all expenses of operation of the plan."

CORPORATION FORMED

"Any emergency corporation shall be created. Its directors shall consist of the secretary of agriculture, the secretary of commerce, the secretary of labor, the secretary of the treasury and one other, appointed by the president and confirmed by the senate. The director so appointed shall be chairman and managing director. The corporation shall have no capital stock. It shall be empowered to levy and collect the export tax, pay the equalization fee and conduct all other business in connection therewith."

In order to operate while getting under way, the corporation would be authorized to borrow not to exceed $5,000,000. Also it would be empowered to borrow as against future tax collections in case they did not arrive in sufficient volume at first to meet administration expenses but the borrowing would be done in the open market, certificates of indebtedness being issued the same as in any other business. They would bear interest at current rates and be payable on or before the close of the emergency period.

The export tax would be collected either in the form of certificates or in the levying of stamp taxes on each barrel or sack of flour, or they would be attached to exporters' bills of lading. In the case of animal products, it has been suggested that they be taxed at the packing plant. Regardless of where it is levied, it would be charged back to and be paid by the producers or grower.

The international farm congress is one of the conservative farm bodies and is opposed to government entry into private business or price fixing. The foregoing plan is held to be neither, but a simple application of the methods by which domestic prices are protected by the tariff in other commodities. If the McNary-Haugen bill is beaten as seems likely, this plan will be seized upon as a substitute, but it has the merit of involving no expense to the government, which may commend it to the administration.

WOMEN WOULD KEEP POLICEWOMAN LAW

A number of women will ask for a hearing before the ordinance committee of the common council which will meet Friday evening. Any women interested in retaining the office of policewoman in the community are invited to be present at the meeting in the city hall. The committee has in its hands a proposed ordinance to repeal the existing ordinance which made it possible to engage a policewoman. The committee also will consider a proposed ordinance to compel motorists to stop at railroad crossings.

George Remus Called from Atlanta Penitentiary Testifies Before Senate

$250,000 FOR PROTECTION

Bootlegger Also Claims He Paid from $1.50 to $2.50 Per Case for Permits

By Associated Press

Washington, D. C.—George Remus, a millionaire bootlegger now in the Atlanta penitentiary, testified Friday before senate Daugherty committee that he paid between $25,000 and $300,000 to Jess W. Smith for protection.

He also declared that James M. Linton, whom he described as "a special assistant to the attorney general," helped to defend him and was paid about $9,000. He added that Linton refused, however, to "ask favors or consideration" from the department of justice.

To Smith, he said he also paid from $1.50 to $2.50 per case for permits allowing him to take whiskey from a string of distilleries he had purchased just before prohibition went into effect. As to what Smith did with the money, and whether it was "split" with others, Remus said he never inquired.

CONDUCTED BY GUARDS

Brought before the committee under guard, the witness related how he bought a string of distilleries in Ohio, Indiana, and Kentucky after the Volstead act was passed, arranged through a "gentleman's agreement" with Smith to get withdrawal permits, and was protected from prosecution for a year and a half while he accomplished the distribution of some 600,000 or 800,000 gallons of liquor under the pretense of sealing it for medicinal purposes.

Remus could not recall just how much money he had paid Smith but he estimated that the total at about $250,000 to $300,000. He never asked he declared whether the money was split with any one else. The whiskey was dispensed ostensibly to various drug stores, he said, but really reached the bootleggers.

Even after his conviction in Ohio, the witness said, Smith promised him that he "never would see the penitentiary." He said that the general attorney general said "there would be no putting away of Remus and his men," Remus told the committee.

The plan was, if the case went to the supreme court, to secure a pardon, and the witness insisted that Smith had told him Attorney General Daugherty would see that "a man's name" was extended. "But Smith killed himself a year ago this month with out having made the promise good."

FORESTERS FIGHT MONTANA FLAMES

Spread of Forest Fires Requires Service of More Men to Save Trees

Missoula, Mont.—Forest service officials Friday continued to increase the number of men fighting fires in the timber regions of western Montana and northern Idaho when several of the more dangerous conflagrations spread to new bounds.

A fire in the Cabinet forest in western Montana Thursday spread into a large stand of commercial timber and covered 600 acres, when reported to district headquarters here Thursday night.

More than 300 men are fighting timber fires in the district, according to O. C. Braden of Spokane who is in charge of the maintenance department of the district.

Sixteen fires are burning in the Kootenai forest in northern Montana, and 114 men are working in that district to stop the flames.

In the Kaibab forest in northern Idaho the Kaibab Creek fire is threatening the national forests but fighters expected to have this and two other conflagrations under control Friday.

POWERS CASE BEFORE FEDERAL GRAND JURY

Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke and Detective Matthew McGinnis of Appleton left Friday for Milwaukee. They were subpoenaed by a federal grand jury as witnesses in the William Powers moonshine case. A similar case is pending in the municipal court here but has been postponed on account of the action that was imminent in federal court. Powers was arrested six months after a series of moonshine raids in Buchanan in which the sheriff and Detective McGinnis took part. The largest moonshine still ever found in the county was seized at the time. Near the still lay a coat which contained letters addressed to Powers, it was said.

Indian Fight Brings Honor To Milwaukee

Washington, D. C.—A citation for gallantry in action against Apache Indians in Arizona 49 years ago has been awarded to Brigadier General Charles B. King, retired, now living in Milwaukee. The recommendation was made by the board of officers' overhaul of the War Department records.

General King, then a lieutenant of the Fifth Cavalry, headed a scouting detachment of 14 men in the struggle with Apache Indians near Diamond Butte, Arizona, which occurred on May 21, 1874.

TAKE MAN'S BODY OUT OF KAUKAUNA POWERHOUSE CANAL

William Schultz of Forest Junction Drowns Early Friday Morning

Kaukauna—William Schultz, about 60, was drowned in the power canal between 3:40 and 4:20 Friday morning. Schultz's body was removed from the racks in the canal at the power house at 4:20 by police. He had been notified by an employee in the power house. The body was discovered floating down the canal when an employee walked along the racks to determine whether they needed cleaning.

Schultz had been making his home with a Stenelle family near Forest Junction but was in Kaukauna frequently. He was last seen by Officer John Hitting, south side night policeman, on Second-st about one and one half hours before he was found in the water.

It is probable the body was not in the water very long since the current in the canal is swift and the body was discovered before it reached the racks. Mr. Schultz's only known relatives are two nieces, Mrs. George Burton and Miss Martha Schultz, both of whom live at 212 John-st.

OSHKOSH BANKER SUCCUMBS TO FLU

Oshkosh—Thomas Daly, vice president for ten years of the Commercial National bank; president for ten years of the Commercial National bank before the merger with the Old National bank, director of the Marine National bank of Milwaukee and interested in the First National bank of Milwaukee, Clintonville, Rhinelander and Manawa and of the Second National Bank Syracuse, New York, passed away Friday morning, from intestinal influenza. Mr. Daly had been engaged in the banking business for more than 40 years but for the last two or three years had been inactive on account of failing health. He was a member of the Everetts, a baseball team which flourished in 1855, and had always taken an active part in athletics. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Frances Daly, and a number of nephews and nieces. The funeral will be held from St. Peter's Catholic church at 10 o'clock Monday morning.

Cherry-St Bridge Road May Get Federal Funds

Cherry-st bridge road, over which Highway 18 will be relocated, has been placed on the system of highways eligible to receive federal aid for construction. It was learned following a meeting of the state highway commission at Madison on Thursday. No decision has been made, however, when or whether federal money will be used for improving the street for which a right-of-way now is being obtained.

Placing the road on the federal aid system puts an end to the controversy over whether Highway 18 should be located to go through Menasha and Neenah to Wisconsin and Green counties where it would pick up the old route, or whether it would be routed through Appleton to the old route. The committee has determined that the route shall be through Appleton but just how it will enter the city has not been determined except that it will pass over the new bridge.

Inasmuch as Outagamie-co already is receiving a large sum of money from funds provided by the federal government, it is questionable whether more will be available for work on the Cherry-st road. Whether or not crossing and the Brown-co line is being done with federal and state money.

Madison—Difficulties on the special legislative highway committee were eliminated somewhat with the resignation late Thursday of state Senator George Staudenmayer as member of committee and election of Senator Oscar Morris of Milwaukee as the new chairman.

Governor Blaine will request a special meeting of the state highway commission some time next week and will place his program for reduction of expenditures before it at that time, it was stated officially Friday. At this meeting, the differences between the executive and commission are expected to come to a climax and should the commission decline to accept the governor's plan, a reorganization is probable, it was said Friday.

Senator Staudenmayer's resignation to the governor follows:

"Inasmuch as the attorney general's department has held that the highway commission and the special legislative committee may review the federal trunk line system, although final action thereon was taken by the joint body last October, and there being no additional mileage to add to the federal trunk system, and there being no further business for the joint body, I see no necessity for continuing on the special legislative committee and therefore respectfully submit my resignation from said committee, to take effect presently, so that there will be no confusion respecting my position as a member of the state highway commission."

After Staudenmayer's resignation, the highway committee held a meeting with Senator Morris as chairman. A joint session of the highway commission and committee continued throughout Thursday.

Every colliery of the company was shut down, according to reports received at the headquarters of the Miners union.

A reduction in the rate of pay for yardage and the alleged refusal of company officials to confer with representatives of the district president were given as the reason for the walk-out.

COOLIDGE AND MADDOO ARE OREGON FAVORITES

By Associated Press

Portland, Ore.—Oregon voters went to the polls Friday to settle a long and bitterly fought campaign for some offices, but with the selection of Calvin Coolidge and William G. ## FIRE INSPECTION PAYS WELL; CITY GETS $2,854 CHECK

Chief of Fire Department Believes City Needs Full Time Inspector

An increase of nearly $250 is noted in the amount of the money received by Fred Bachman, city treasurer, from the state commissioner of insurance, for the Appleton fire department as compensation for its services in fire inspection.

The check this year amounts to $2,854.18, as compared with $2,604.20 a year ago. This money represents 2 per cent of the total amount of fire insurance premiums collected on Appleton property during the year 1923. It has been the custom of depositing this money in the firemen's pension fund.

"It has been possible for me to make payment of this tax for support of your department at this time," said the commissioner, "due to the fact that the chief of your fire department has made the regular inspections as called for by laws of the state."

Appleton has no fire inspector, and in lieu of one, members of the fire department while they are off duty make the rounds of inspections required by law. If this work were not done, the state would send a man here to inspect at Appleton's expense. Chief George P. McGillion is of the opinion that the department should have one man who could devote his entire time to the inspection of fire hazards in the city, so that men off duty could be relieved.

An increase of $250 in the fire department's share of the insurance premiums means that $12,500 more premiums were collected last year.

The total amount of premiums collected was $142,709. What amount of insurance the premiums represent is indefinite. At an average rate of $5.50 per $1,000, the fire insurance carried in Appleton would be $26,000,000, at $4 it would be $35,000,000.

C. OF C. PROTESTS AGAINST INCREASE IN INSURANCE RATE

Board Feels Compensation Is Not Needed—Want Parlor Car Restored

Protest will be filed with the Wisconsin insurance commission by Appleton Chamber of Commerce against the raising of the premium rates for workmen's compensation insurance. This action was taken by the board of directors at a dinner Wednesday evening at Vermorels.

The chamber also heard reports from several committees and discussed resumption of parlor car service on certain passenger trains.

It is believed by the chamber that the increase of 15 per cent in compensation rates ordered by the commission is not necessary, because many of the insurance companies themselves are opposed to it, declaring the rates are high enough. The principal objection of employers is that the workmen do not get increased compensation for injuries, under the greater revenue from premiums.

The directors decided to have the chamber of commerce assist other chambers and organizations of the Fox river valley in inducing the Chicago and Northwestern railroad to restore parlor car service on passenger trains 133 and 214. The parlor car formerly was attached to train 13 northbound mornings and was detached at Appleton and placed on train 214 southbound at 12:20 at noon.

J. N. Keller, chairman of the retail trades division, told of a study which was being made of parking problems. R. H. Carroese, chairman of the publicity committee told of the visit here of F. H. Reilly of Wisconsin, The Land of Lakes, Inc., and Louis Bonini, head of the community welfare committee announced that he would try to obtain cooperation of the Rotary, Lions and Kiwanis clubs and Appleton Women's club and the American legion to stage the Wisconsin better cities contest starting June 1, as he is convinced it is valuable to Appleton.

Car Damaged
Minor damages were inflicted upon a Studebaker automobile driven by F. E. Saecker, 621 Union-st., in an accident which happened on Lake-st. bridge Wednesday noon. Mr. Saecker was driving north on the bridge when a Chevrolet truck driven by Louis Blinder, 1010 College-ave., crowded his car to the side of the bridge and broke a hub cap. The truck passed the Studebaker car on the bridge it was said.

Number Of Stamps Sold, Not Pieces Of Mail Handled, Is Basis Of Postal Standards

"Purchase stamps at the home postoffice" is an appeal that is often misunderstood by branch business houses and business men ask themselves, "What possible difference can it make if postage stamps are bought at the local postoffice or at the postoffice at the city where the company headquarters are located?"

The Appleton postoffice answers the question that the postoffice receipts are the standards by which not only the postmaster's salary, but the allowance of clerk hire, auxiliary help, as well as other expenses are fixed. This means that no matter how much work is done, the postoffice is handicapped unless it receives the proper revenue from the sale of stamps.

Appleton postoffice employees handle the mails of local firms, regardless of whether they purchase their stamps here, but the office gets no credit for the work at the United States postal department.

DON'T BUY STAMPS
Three large public utilities of this city do not purchase stamps here for the monthly statements to patrons. Two of them peddle the bills and one mails them from divisional headquarters at Milwaukee. When the United States postal department at Washington inquires why there is not greater postal revenue here commensurate with the great amount of work, the postoffice points out to the fact that there is not a single large user of the mails in Appleton.

The principal industry of the city, the paper industry, is one that does not deal direct with the retailer but with the jobber; consequently there is less of business than is found in other cities in Wisconsin.

At Racine, Horlick milk factory furnishes a considerable revenue for the postoffice. At Kenosha it is the Nash Motor company and the Simmons Bed company; at Beloit it is the Fairbanks-Morse company; at Manitowish the aluminum industry; at Sheboygan the chair and furniture factories; at Fort Atkinson the James Manufacturing company.

Another handicap under which the Appleton office labors is the fact that the large Chicago mail order houses send their catalogs by freight to Green Bay and from there distribute them by mail to points within several postal zones.

The rating of appropriations and allowances according to postal revenue renders the system of great value in preventing an excess of employees and maintaining the service machinery at a standard of efficiency commensurate with the requirements for handling of mails. But the obstacle in the way of complete success of the method is that some offices do not receive

When Comparing Prices—Compare Quality

Many people make the mistake of comparing tire prices, considering only tires of like size and not quality. For instance, we sell a Goodyear Cord, 30x3 1/2, for $9.05 and we also sell a Goodyear, the same size, of higher quality, for $14.00. We have the same variance in the Kelly-Springfield line. Don't be misled by comparing tires of unknown makes with standard tires of the finest quality, such as Goodyear and Kelly-Springfield.

WILD FLOWERS

When some enthusiastic New Englanders wanted to send Mayflowers to President Coolidge the other day they found them rather hard to find. It may be that the president's call for an outdoor conference next week may result in thousands of people being introduced to the need of wild-flower conservation among other things.

After that first terrible winter in New England, one of the first sights to cheer our Pilgrim forefathers during the early spring days was arbutus, the "sweetest flower that grows." The dainty blossoms were hailed as a symbol of hope, a promise of the better things in store after the tortures of that dreadful first winter. Tradition relates that the early Pilgrims were so overjoyed at the sight of the charming plant, the blossoms of which seemed to appear from under the winter's snow, that they called it the Mayflower. In the words of the poet Whittier:

"God be praised! the Pilgrims' said
Who saw the blossoms peer
Above the brown leaves, dry and dead:
"Behold our Mayflower here!"

The true Mayflower, however, is an English plant, neither resembling nor related to its native American namesake. Whether the American species was named in tender remembrance of home ties in England, or in honor of the sturdy vessel that carried our forebears safely across the ocean, is not known. The name Mayflower is still in common use throughout New England, although in other sections the plant is usually called arbutus.

The name Mayflower is hardly appropriate, since the flowers are among the earliest of spring blossoms and comparatively few remain during May. Neither is arbutus particularly appropriate except for the beauty and euphony of the word, since the true arbutus is also an English species that is not even closely related to our beautiful plant. The need of protecting and conserving our wild flowers has been increasingly evident in late years. They are one of the charms of outdoor life that is indispensable. Nature would not be the same without them. The Washington conference will serve at least to impress upon the public the necessity of starting a movement against a wholesale and indiscriminate destruction of wild flowers. The necessity of such a movement is emphasized by the tremendous increase of tourists and those who seek vacations in the open.

MUSCLE SHOALS

Within the last two months the country has commenced to take a critical view of Mr. Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals. At the time his offer was taken up by congress this spring it was the only proposition formally before the government. Mr. Ford's offer did not mean much to the ordinary layman in the absence of other bids with whose terms and proposals a comparison could be made. There was a general disposition to approve Mr. Ford's offer because of the strong confidence in his industrial genius and his previous disposition to deal fairly with his employees and the country. This was particularly noticeable among the farmer and the people of the south. The farmers had their hopes on cheap fertilizer and it was natural for them to believe that Ford could make and sell it to them cheaper than anyone else. The people of the south wanted the industrial development that would follow Mr. Ford's establishment at Muscle Shoals.

Some incidents occurred of a political nature which excited public curiosity. This was a cessation of Mr. Ford's attacks on the administration, his visit to the White house, his endorsement of Mr. Coolidge's candidacy. Mr. Coolidge's apparent friendliness toward Ford's proposition as reflected in his message to congress urging action in the disposition of Muscle Shoals. Some people have tried to make it appear that there was a bargain between Ford and Coolidge for Muscle Shoals. The president's comment on this disposes of it effectually. The president's good faith and integrity are not to be questioned, and furthermore, as Mr. Coolidge has said, we do not think Mr. Ford's political influence is for sale.

The public should, therefore, attempt to pass judgment on Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals on its merits, as nearly as this may be possible. Congress should do the same. There are some newspapers and some politicians which have personal grievances against Mr. Ford, and their criticisms should be weighed in this light. Nevertheless, there are objections to the Ford proposal that are worth considering and perhaps the most serious is the one hundred year lease he asks for, which involves a repeal of the conservation act. It would seem to be derogatory to the national interests to tie up for so long a period a power property of such magnitude, closely related to the future prosperity and advancement of the south and even the entire country, the potential value of which can hardly be estimated at this time.

Since Mr. Ford made his offer another has been submitted by the Alabama Power company which asks for a fifty year lease and no deeds to any property, while Ford demands deeds to both nitrate plants, the Waco quarry and two steam plants, costing altogether $84,915,000. Mr. Ford agrees to pay $5,000,000 for the property to which he receives the deed, while the Alabama company offers $4,500,000 in cash for one steam plant. The Alabama company offers $138,084,400 rental for dams No. 2 and 3 for fifty years, or for 100 years, $295,624,400. Ford's offer for rental for the dams for 100 years is $219,964,954.

The Alabama company agrees to make 50,000 tons of nitrate annually and Ford 40,000 tons. It agrees to furnish 100,000 horsepower for making fertilizer at cost, while Ford does not bind himself on the amount or price of product. The company promises 90,000 tons of nitrate in case of war and Ford 40,000. The company would devote $1,000,000 a year to research while Ford promises nothing. It offers to sell all power in excess of that needed for fertilizer while Ford makes no offer to the public.

At the end of 50 years the property leased to the Alabama company would revert to the government. At the end of 100 years Ford's heirs would own the nitrate-plant and would have a preferred right to renewal of the water power leases. The company accepts regulation by government authority of rates, service and profits. Ford subjects himself to control only in the instance of fertilizer, which he is willing to sell at cost plus not more than 8 per cent. This is a comparison of the two propositions in their main aspect.

On a cursory examination the Alabama Power company's bid appears to be better than that of Ford. This does not follow absolutely, but it is well worth the most thorough, critical and scientific investigation. While it is desirable to proceed with the power development at Muscle Shoals, both for the industrial progress of the south and for the benefit of farmers who are in need of cheaper fertilizer, it will pay the government and the people of the United States to go slowly in closing this deal until it is certain that the public interests have been thoroughly protected and conserved. If it is possible to do this on any kind of an offer to which the people are bound for so long a period as 100 years, it should require the most convincing proof. This, in our opinion, is the most valid objection to the Ford proposal. Muscle Shoals is essentially a national project and its operation, control and ownership should inure primarily for the benefit of the people.

Common sense is all that makes a college education valuable.

MUSTARD VERSUS BUNK

A homemade mustard paste will accomplish all that any external application can accomplish for any internal trouble. That's flat, and it ought to save some folks money — not to mention health or time.

Bronchitis, pneumonia, pleurisy and other acute inflammations in the chest may call for mustard paste, or a "threat" of any such trouble, whatever that may be, may turn to a false alarm under the persuasion of a mustard paste of the right quality and character. A mustard paste has character, all right. It should be insistent but kind, and not vindictive. Some nurses make mustard pastes that are altogether too hot and irritating to be worth while, and other concoct mustard pastes which warrant very strong language. A timid, vacillating mustard paste is commonly blamed on the mustard, while one which seems determined to mutilate generally draws suspicions on the kind or quality of egg. Mustard flour does vary in biting and burning capacity, but as for the addition of egg white or yolk or any other ingredient which purports to prevent the paste from blistering, that's a variety of bunk which may be all right for simple folk. There is no excuse whatever for blistering anybody with a mustard paste and no nurse who has a kind of training will ever permit such a thing to happen. Mustard should not be applied to a child's chest — use camphorated oil instead.

To make a mustard paste mix one part of mustard paste mix one part of mustard flour with four parts of wheat flour and enough cold water to make a smooth paste that will not flow. Spread the paste on heavy paper about one-eighth of an inch thick — the paste, not the paper — back it with muslin, doubling the edges back over the paper, then warm the finished article to a comfortable degree and slap it on the right spot. Take a peep at the skin under it every five minutes, and when the skin gets nice and red the paste has done all the good it is going to do and deserves to be taken off right away. A few minutes too long may blister the patient and blast the reputation of the nurse.

Mustard has two other important uses which warrant a place for it in the medicine cupboard. It is useful in giving a hot mustard foot bath, which, in my old fashioned judgment, is about the best remedy there is for home treatment of acute respiratory infections of any kind. But I am not going to try to describe the h. m. f. b. here — whenever I do, the nurses seem to get peeved and take great pleasure in pointing out the glaring defects of my method.

The third use of mustard is as an emergency emetic, though it is slow as compared with the copper sulphate already described. A tablespoon in a glass of lukewarm water turns the trick.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Specialists Are Doctors.

Is there but one way a doctor can find out whether a man has syphilis, and must this be done by a specialist? I mean the Wasserman test. (O. C.)
Answer:—Doctors can diagnose syphilis as well today as they used to before the Wasserman test was introduced. Any doctor is competent to do so. Specialists generally have the Wasserman test made by a laboratory technician. Specialists are doctors. There would be no advantage in seeking a specialist's service in such a case, unless you harbor a notion that only the best doctors are specialists.

With and Without.

Some physicians have said that coffee without cream is not harmful; that it is the combination with cream that makes the caffeine in coffee poisonous. Is that a fact? (K. W.)

Answer:—No! It is nonsense. Coffee is as harmful or wholesome, for most adults, without cream as it is with cream—but don't ever offer me any without while I'm hungry.

Duluth of Banff.

My home is in Kalamazoo, but I suffer with hay fever every summer, the early summer type. Where can I go to escape it? (S. W.)

Answer:—Duluth, Minn.; Altoona, Pa.; Mackinac, Mich.; Adirondack Mountains, in New York; Nova Scotia; Banff, in the Canadian Rockies; Silver Plume, Colo., and Phoenix, Ariz., are places where some hay fever sufferers find relief. No place is immune. Try a cruise to Duluth or Mackinac. (Copyright, National Newspaper Service.)

World's News Told In Brief, Simple Style

BY CHARLES P. STEWART

In the German election the monarchists, militarists, aristocrats and plutocrats gained heavily at the middle parties' expense, and so did the "reds," the former because Germany's natural reactionary, and the latter because of the masses' misery. If times improve, it means permanent conservative strength; if not, it may mean communism.

The election indicated Germany will adopt the Dawes financial plan, but only by a small majority.

BALKAN TROUBLE

In reward for joining the allies, Rumania got Bessarabia from Russia when the war ended. Now it's reported Russia means to get it back. Anyway, Russian troops are gathering on the border.

The threat alarms Yugoslavia, Bulgaria and Greece. Should there be fighting, it's even hinted France's interests might pull her in. Nobody can tell where these Balkan outbreaks, once started, will stop.

JAPAN

President Coolidge, though for practically complete exclusion, instead of more immigration limitation against the Japanese, wants to postpone it until next spring, to give time for polite diplomatic negotiations toward ending the present arrangement—the "gentleman's agreement" between the two countries. But congress doesn't want to wait. It's uncertain whether or not the president will be able to get his way by the vote.

Anyway, the situation's bad. Immediate war won't result, but, as the London Times expresses it, "the seeds of conflict have been sown."

CUBA

The Washington government has authorized arms sales to the Havana government to fight Cuban revolutionists. However, some Americans are on the revolutionist's side. Especially on the Isle of Pines they say the Cuban officials are terrorizing them and are asking military aid to stop it.

Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler's prediction that the Republicans will lose Massachusetts, Connecticut, New Hampshire, Rhode Island, New York, Pennsylvania, New Jersey, Delaware, Wisconsin, Illinois and Missouri unless they declare for prohibition modification has upset Republican politicians in Washington considerably. ## ERNEST POOLE: ARTIST OR SOCIOLOGIST?

There are probably few writers in America in whom there is so bitter and so constant a struggle between the artist and the sociologist as in Ernest Poole. Poole is now one, now the other, sometimes both, sometimes neither.

He is neither it seems to me, in his latest book, "Danger." As art it is hardly worth a serious thought, as sociology it is, to be very charitable, extremely far-fetched. I can hardly see a single reason why the book should have been written by one who is capable of very much better work.

"Danger," which is, I believe, very easily his worst book follows right on the heels of what, in my opinion, is by far his best book. About a year ago or so before "Danger" appeared Ernest Poole published a novel that he called "Millions." It did not arouse a very great deal of attention but it is a genuine work of art and all readers who were attracted to Ernest Poole some years ago when he made his hit with "The Harbor," but who have since failed to follow him in his career should take "Millions" from the shelf and read it. They will have Poole at his best there—a literary artist who is only to a small degree handicapped by Ernest Poole the sociologist.

HAS TWO NATURES

That has been the trouble with Ernest Poole from the very beginning. In him are two natures: artist and sociologist. Sometimes the one gets the upperhand, sometimes the other. Frequently the sociologist gets in the way of the artist and the result is merely a preachy book, one that has no artistic authenticity.

Ernest Poole in his young manhood spent several years in a social settlement and presumably it was there that sociology got its strange hold on him. "The Harbor," his first novel, was partly autobiographical and it told a real story. Moreover, as in the case of some other well known books the scene itself dominated the story and carried the author along. The busy life of New York harbor made the story and gave it tremendous appeal. But even in this book the artist is in conflict with the sociologist to some extent.

Then came "His Family." It was carefully written and a very conscientious piece of work but the author or was so obsessed with the social problems he had come in contact with in the settlement that much of the time he forgot to tell a story. In his third book, "His Second Wife," Poole went completely over his head in the mire of sociological discussion and the book was too feeble for serious attention. In some ways it is a strong contender for last place in the list of Poole's novels.

WROTE WAR STORY

Then came the war and for a time Mr. Poole's production ceased so far as the novel goes. For a time he seemed to be too much preoccupied with the conflict to express himself in fiction. But in 1920 he published "Blind," the story of a man who had been blinded by the war and who looks back over his forty years of life with the inward eye of memory. Hence it is a story that deals for the most part with the time before the war. The sociological obsession is there as usual, but it does not interfere very seriously with the art of it.

Curiously his next two books had nothing to do with the war. "Beggar's Gold" is the rather moving story of a man who all his life longs to go to China and of the frustrations of his desire; and "Millions" is the story of a man who is suddenly put into the position of being about to get a million if a certain relative is injured in an accident dies. What this possibility does to the family is a story told with an artistic effect that shows Ernest Poole is a writer who has great power if he can inhibit his tendency to sociological preaching.

And after that high-water mark comes anti-climax, namely "Danger." It is largely fantastic tommyrot and does not contain a single character that rings true.

Q. What kind of collar should be worn with a Tuxedo? J. H.

A. The correct Dress Chart of "The Harvard" says that a white collar with wide opening, a turn-down collar may be worn, a suitable tie is a wide black bow.

Q. When is the Festival of the Cherry Blossoms held in Japan? B. R. N.

A. The Festival of the Cherry Blossoms is a notable event each year. This festival is celebrated during the second or third week of April when the cherry trees are at the height of their season. Inaugurated in the ninth century, the Emperor's garden party is famed throughout the world for its floral splendor, and as a social function it brings about the most brilliant assemblage seen at the royal palace during the entire round of the four seasons. To the Japanese the cherry blossom has a symbolic akin to that of the bird in other countries, and they speak of it as "Sakura—Symbol of Happiness."

PRINT THIS ABOUT Joint-Ease

Says Druggist

"Joint-Ease is selling like hot cakes in my store because it is a wonderful and speedy remedy for all joint troubles. 'But why not impress on tens of thousands of suffering people some of the things that dozens of my customers tell me almost daily. 'Some say that it knocks out a lumpago over night — Others assert that for chest colds and sore throat it has no equal, while many insist that there is nothing they ever tried that is so efficient for neuralgia, neuritis and even head colds and nasal catarrh.'"

Answering the above letter, we, the makers of Joint-Ease, know that what this thriving New Jersey druggist says is true, but we still maintain that Joint-Ease is prepared for stiff, inflamed, painful, swollen joints, whether in ankle, knee, hip, elbow, shoulder, finger or spine.

You'll like to use stainless Joint-Ease, for with just one minute's rubbing, it soaks in through the flesh direct to the ailing bones and ligaments—that's why it succeeds—for when Joint-Ease gets in joint agony gets out—quick—and without any waste of time all swelling and congestion disappears. A tube for 60 cents. Voigt's Drug Store sells lots of Joint-Ease.

A WORD TO WOMEN

A hundred and twenty-one thousand women would comprise a vast army. Yet a canvass was recently made among more than that a number of women who had used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over the ills of womanhood, and should influence every sick and ailing woman to try it. adv.

KAUKAUNA NEWS

Melvin Trams Telephone 329-J
Kaukauna RepresentativeE. F. TERRY, NOTED
BRIDGE BUILDER,
KAUKAUNA PRODUCT

Man Made Famous by Big Construction Projects, Once Lived at Kaukauna

Kaukauna—Citizens of Kaukauna will be interested to know that Edward F. Terry, 67, who died Monday at his home in Riverside, N. Y., and who was a famous builder of bridges, was once a resident of the Electric City.

Mr. Terry was born March 26, 1857 in Pleromont, N. H., and came to Kaukauna when he was in his teens. He lived here several years and left the city when he secured a job as steel worker.

Among E. F. Terry's survivors are his brother Walter Terry, who lives at 817 Augustine, a sister, Mrs. John Kelly, Waukegan, and several nieces and nephews in Kaukauna. Among the relatives who reside in Kaukauna are Mrs. Edward Hahnemann, Joseph and Julius Terry, Ezra, Emma and Leone Terry.

Mr. Terry was a noted steel contractor. He built the Manhattan bridge in New York and several bridges across the Mississippi. The May, 1918 issue of "System" contains a life story of Mr. Terry in which it is told that Mr. Terry began working at the age of 11, shortly after his father died. A year later his mother died leaving him with five young brothers.

Terry worked on farms in the summer and in the woods in the winter. By the merest accident he became interested in steel working. Terry had started for work in the lumber camp for the winter but was delayed when the Chicago Northwestern train was late at Baraboo station. He wandered up the tracks to kill time and came across a group of workmen who were putting up an iron bridge and he became interested. Soon after he became a steel worker and made himself one of the foremost construction contractors in the country.

Although Mr. Terry has not been in this vicinity for a great number of years he is remembered by many residents of this city.

ARTERIAL STREET
LAW IS OBSERVED

Kaukauna—Someone complained to the police Thursday that a number of automobile drivers were neglecting to stop at the arterial crossing on Lave and Doty-st and officer James McFadden was stationed on the corner to put a stop to the violation of the ordinance. Mr. McFadden was on duty there from about 10:30 until 1:30 in the afternoon. During that time he counted 160 cars which came down Doty-st and on to Lave-st and that number only four drivers failed to stop. Those four were strangers who never before had passed over the street.

It is the opinion of the officers that the percentage of violators is scarcely noticeable. Although the police department has been lenient and has arrested few drivers, there are few who deliberately overlook the arterial stops.

TALENTED YOUTHS NOW TURNING TO BASEBALL

By Associated Press
Boston—Boys who were too young to enter the World war are going to be major league baseball stars within a year or two, in the opinion of Judge Emil Fuchs, one of the owners of the Braves.

"There will be some careful scouting for this material," he said, "because of the big leagues are crowded with veterans who are fading fast."

"I believe the time is fast approaching when there will be many Franko Fuchs's in baseball. The war shut off the natural flow of talented young men to big league baseball, but now many of those boys who were below the draft age are coming along."

KOCH, CARY AND HARBECK LEAVE SCHOOL BOARDS

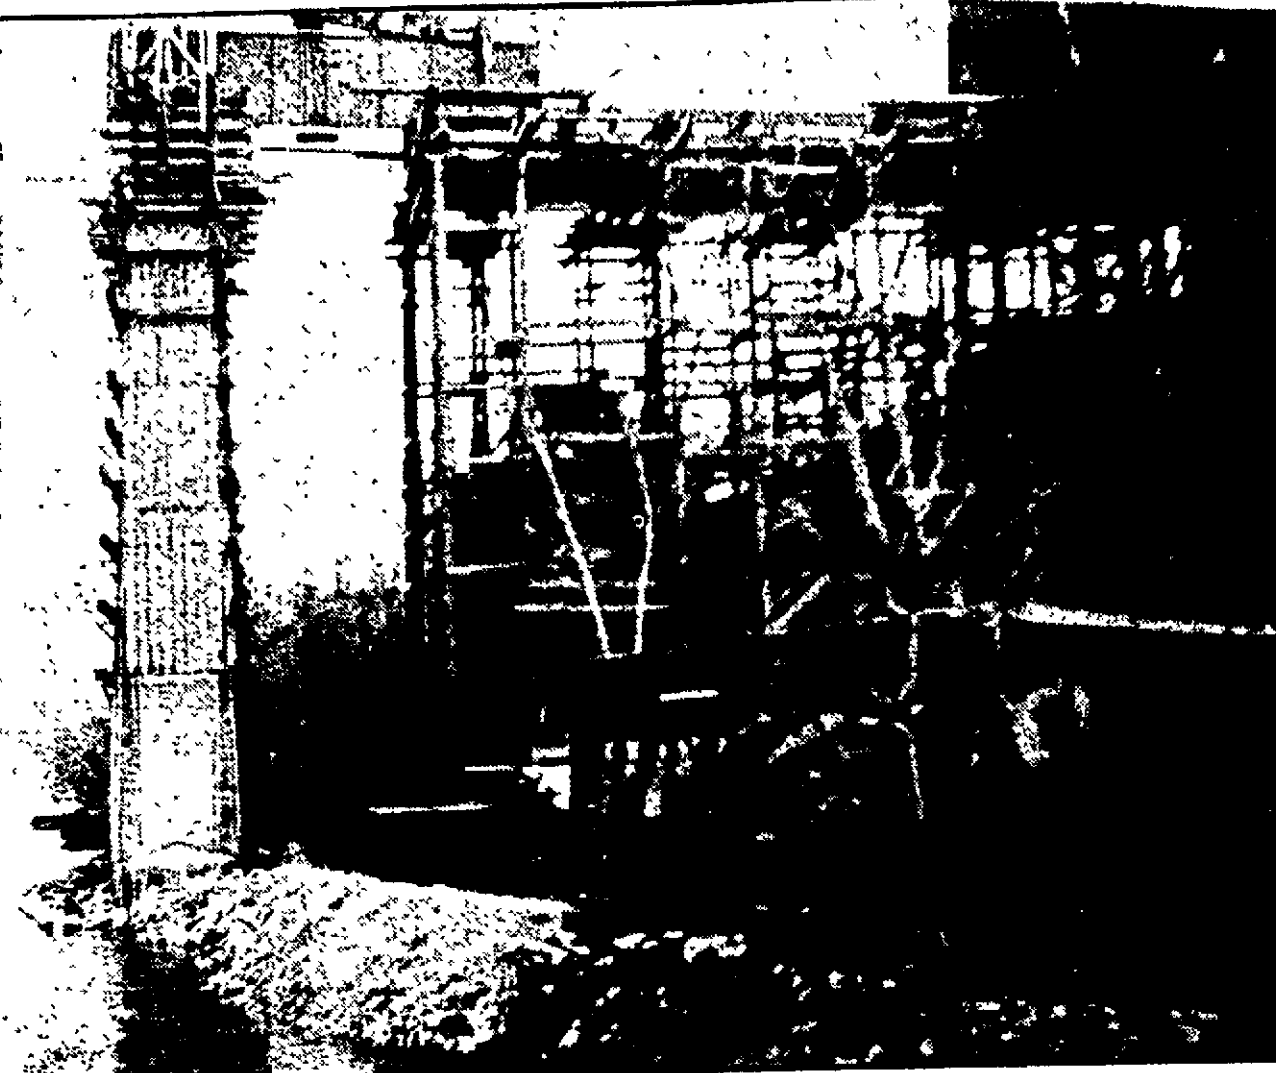

One Leaves City and Two Say They Will Decline to Be Candidates

Taxpayers of Appleton will be called upon to elect three new school directors at the annual district school meetings the first Monday in July. Paul V. Cary of the First district and A. G. Koch of the Third district, each of whom have served several terms, will not be candidates for reelection. J. Henry Harbeck of the Second district is planning to move to Milwaukee next month.

The only other director is Axel Fabstrom of the Fourth district, who also has served his district for several years. While not seeking reelection he said he is willing to continue his service.

The change in the directorship of the several school districts will affect the entire city inasmuch as each is a member of the board of education and has taken an active part in the building of the new junior high schools. So far no names have been mentioned as their successors.

Hoisting Steel Girders For Cherry-St Bridge Is Difficult Task

THIS PICTURE, TAKEN THIS WEEK, SHOWS THE FALSE WORK AT THE SOUTH END OF THE CHERRY-ST BRIDGE WHERE CONSTRUCTION IS IN PROGRESS. GREAT STEEL GIRDERS ARE PULLED TO THE TOP OF THE WOODEN FRAMES AND MADE SECURE.

Delay in shipment of steel from the American Bridge company at Gary, Ind., may prevent the Wausau Iron works, contractors building the Cherry bridge from completing the viaduct at the time specified in the contract. It was expected that the structure would be completed by July 1, but on account of delay in the arrival of steel, the work may take a little longer, but probably will be completed some time in July.

As soon as the first few girders have been fixed in place, the work will move on rapidly. Construction has progressed very satisfactorily, however, according to W. H. Klyce, resident engineer of Harrington, Howard and Ashe, who designed the Lawe-st and Cherry-st bridges. Ordinarily construction of bridges like the Cherry-st structure would require two years, but the Wausau firm will finish the job in a little more than a year. The concrete poured in the piers and abutments, he says, is a superior order, thus assuring an excellent understructure.

PRELIMINARY WORKS

To the layman the laying of steel seems quite slow, for like in the concrete work there is considerable preliminary, or so-called false work to do. The bridge builders are still at work on the preliminary work, namely that of hoisting up the big girders and other steel ready for skidding to their respective piers.

The two high aerial towers used in hoisting concrete are being retained for the lifting of small steel. The towers, are 55 feet high from the banks and more than 150 feet over the level of the water and are connected with a tramway, or overhead transmission. The time consumed for the cars to run back and forth with concrete last year helped to produce a very fine grade of concrete as this brought about a thorough mixing.

GIRDERS 113 FEET LONG

The same cables attached to the towers were used in hoisting up the floor beams, stringers and miscellaneous steel pieces from the flat cars switched on the siding built especially for this project by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company.

This method of hoisting and moving steel sufficed for the lighter work but is incapable of moving the big girders which are from 40 to 113 feet long, 2 feet high, and weigh from 5 to 33 tons. There are four of the 40-foot girders, but the average length of the other girders is 100 feet.

For the movement of these steel pieces, the engine is coupled with several blocks of 14 sheaves each, or 28 cable lines. Each one of the lines reduced the load by one-twenty-eighth, and thus the engine ordinarily capable of lifting only a ton is enabled to lift as much as 100 tons. The movement of the girders, however, is one-twenty-eighth as by direct hoisting.

HOISTED FROM CARS

The hoisting is done from two steel floor beams placed over the wooden false work structure that is built up from the railroad tracks at the foot of the bank at the seventh pier.

After a girder has been hoisted up to the top transversely to the bridge it is given a quarter turn into a longitudinal position and then slid on rollers to the south abutment.

LOTS OF COMEDY IN "GREEN STOCKINGS"

The senior play of the class of 1924 of Appleton high school will be an attractive one of English manners, interesting stage settings and lovely clothes. "Green Stockings," by A. E. W. Mason is the play and will be given at Appleton theatre on Monday, May 26. It is a part of the regular commencement program which begins on Monday and continues through Thursday evening.

This play is well known for its high comedy and variety of good characters. It is written around the old English tradition that if a younger sister marries before the elder one the elder must wear green stockings at the wedding. Celia Faraday has worn green stockings twice before and refuses to do it again. Her revolt is the story of the play.

Acting in the production will be far above the average high school talent since members of the class of 1924 have had a great deal of experience. Many of the young people in the cast have exceptional ability and they have been cast in parts which fit their talents.

Thousands who have piles have not learned that quick and permanent relief can only be accomplished with internal medicine. Neither cutting nor any amount of treatment with ointments and suppositories will remove the cause.

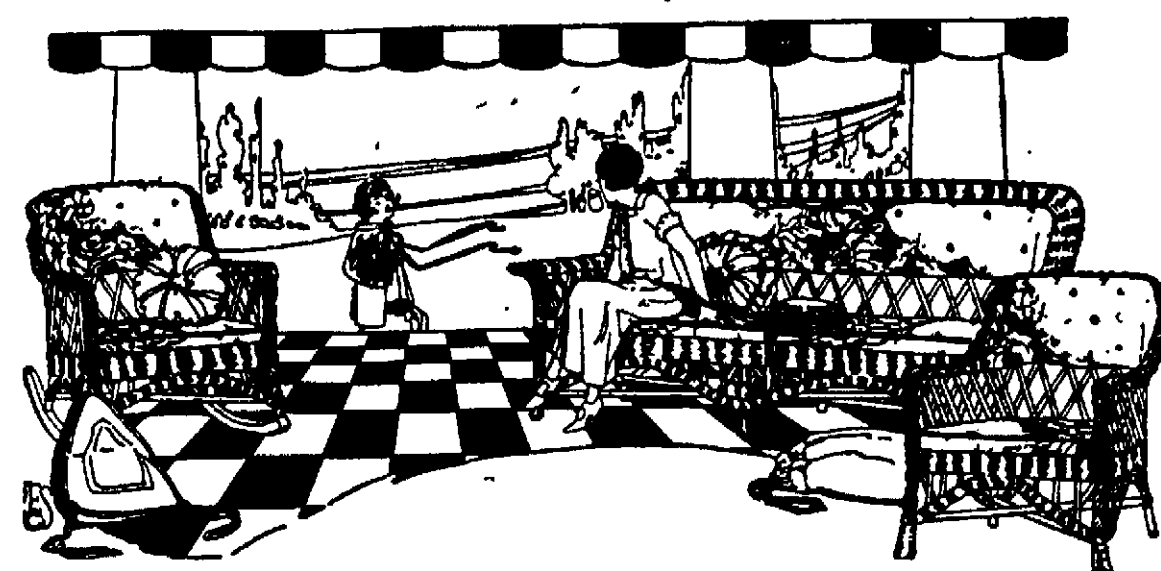

Bad circulation causes piles. There is a complete stagnation of blood in the lower bowel and a weakening of the parts. Dr. J. S. Leonhardt was first to find the remedy. His prescription, HEM-ROID, is now sold by all druggists. Dr. Leonhardt tried it in 1000 cases with the marvelous record of success in 98 per cent, and then decided it should be sold under a rigid money-back guarantee.

Do You Know How to Make Pecan Pralines?

Croole candies occupy a unique position among confections in the United States and the most popular of all is the pecan praline.

Most people have the erroneous idea that pralines are difficult to prepare and that the necessary ingredients are costly.

This is not at all true. One pound of brown sugar, one-half pound of pecans, one spoon of butter and four tablespoons of water will make a good supply of pralines.

Try your hand at this candy-making. The recipes, along with over 70 other Croole recipes, is contained in the new booklet which this bureau has for free distribution.

A large number expects to go by automobile from here and the total attendance will be more than 250.

The plans for the meeting have been worked out quite fully in advance by the state organization. All over the state of Wisconsin there will be intercity gatherings with from two or five or six clubs at each one. In a general way the program will be uniform. At 6:30 sharp the assemblies will arise and sing "America" which will be followed by an invocation to be selected by the host club.

GREETINGS BY RADIO

There will be the usual dinner with Kiwanis songs and features and addresses by some speaker on the subject "The Meaning of this Interclub Day" and a welcome to the visiting Kiwanians. Efforts are being made to secure a well known Milwaukee Kiwanian as the speaker for the Oshkosh meeting. Telegrams and greetings from international offices and other inter-club groups will be read.

There will be roll call of visiting clubs, with brief responses from members of each club. At 8:15 radio messages of greeting will be broadcast by clubs having transmitting sets. At 8:40, the Kiwanians will play and sing "America, the Beautiful" which will be followed by short addresses on the relation of Kiwanis to the community and to the nation, and on Kiwanis ideals.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK

At 9 o'clock the group will be called to their feet to recite the American creed, the pledge to the flag and the inter-club relations creed. That feature is to be strictly observed in every gathering. At 9:15 Dr. Otto Fiedler of Sheboygan, district governor, will speak to the various groups by radio, his address being broadcast from Stevens Point.

The intercity relations committee of the Oshkosh club will have charge of arranging details for the meeting. The chairman of that committee is Bart W. Heiss, who will extend a welcome and greeting to the visiting Kiwanians.

Burs Practice

Kaukauna—Arthur W. Boucher, D. C. of Iron Mountain, Mich., has purchased the chiropractic practice of Drs. Bess Carlson and A. E. Carlson and has opened offices in those occupied by the Carlsons. Mr. and Mrs. Carlson have gone to Rock Island, Ill. where they will continue study.

Approve Barkley Law

Approval of the Barkley bill which would abolish the United States labor board was a result of the meeting of the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks Wednesday night in Trades and Labor hall. The brotherhood is to open a campaign which they hope will aid in passing the bill. Two candidates were taken in on Wednesday night.

MAXWELL CARS MADE STURDY BY CHRYSLER

Best Materials Put Into Maxwell Cars, Also Scientific Workmanship

The records which Maxwell cars have made in the hands of owners ever since Walter P. Chrysler became directing head of the Maxwell Motor Corporation are no matter of chance, declares J. E. Fields, general sales manager.

The cars have performed as they have because high grade performance is built into them. Because Maxwell engineers designed the car to be good. The smoothness of the powerful motor of the present series car, which was introduced shortly after Mr. Chrysler became affiliated with Maxwell, is the smoothness of sturdy, rugged construction and tough, enduring materials," says Mr. Fields.

"Its astonishing power flexibility is the predetermined result of carefully calculated, basic, scientific carburetion and gas distribution, and the most painstaking workmanship.

"It is little short of amazing to learn that the good Maxwell has in it the same fine alloy steels that go into the high priced cars. In fact, more of the high grade steels are used in it than in many cars selling for three and four times the Maxwell price.

"Furthermore, these fine materials are subjected to the most searching tests and inspection. Every part of the front axle, for instance gets 100 per cent Brinell, or scleroscope test. That means not the mere testing of the sample lot or parts, but of every part ever used. The same is true of transmission gears and shafts, rear axle components and valve assemblies. Even piston rings are tested for hardness, perfect alignment and concentricity."

DODGE BROTHERS SEL COMMERCIAL CARS FA

From the time Dodge Brothers began to manufacture commercial cars, they have delivered into the hands of users the unusual total of 102,000 units, with a retail value of more than a million dollars.

During the past fiscal year Dodge Brothers dealers delivered 10,427 screens and panel commercial cars, exclusive of several thousand commercial chassis, which is virtually double the volume of the next nearest competitor.

Over a long period of years Dodge Brothers commercial cars have been used in virtually every line of business, in fleets of from two to twelve hundred cars.

This impressive record was not produced by chance and there are certain obvious reasons why business houses are coming more and more to standardize on these cars for their commercial work.

From the standpoint of economy they are unapproachable. It is a fact everywhere conceded that they will take care of the most difficult as well as the most ordinary hauling requirements at an unusually low cost per mile. Fleet owners who have experimented with various makes of cars and maintained comparative cost records, including all proper items of expense such as depreciation, interest on investment, insurance, maintenance, oil and gas, tires and drivers' expense, are standing on Dodge Brothers cars.

They have proved to themselves and to their clients that these cars deliver more miles of transportation service for less money.

Commercial car transportation must be dependable. The operating losses due to a lineup of vehicles for repairs increase materially the cost of delivering goods. Dodge Brothers cars are universally known for their dependable service.

USED BUICKS CARS MUCH IN DEMAND

The motorist, in buying a used Buick gets full value for his money. He gets a car that is built by a company with a long and well merited reputation for building fine cars. He gets convenience and comfort that he does not get in a new car of cheap make. And he has available to him nationwide Buick Authorized Service.

In view of all these facts it is not surprising that so many people buy used Buicks. The purchase of a used Buick is such a sound business investment that it would indeed be surprising if experienced motorists did not take advantage of it. It is the logical way for them to get the most valuable returns from the limited amount of money that they have to invest.

Undoubtedly they would all like to buy new Buicks. But not everyone is so fortunate as to have sufficient money to buy everything he wants. When this is the case the natural thing to do is to get as much for one's money as possible. That is exactly what a motorist does when he buys a used Buick. He invests in a car that in comfort, convenience, power, and dependability, is more than equal to a new car that costs the same amount.

REO PUTS BALLOON TIRE THROUGH TEST

"In the twentieth year of its existence the Reo Motor Car Company is voicing its approval of genuine balloon tires by making them standard equipment on its latest model the T-6 Special Touring, and selective on all of its closed passenger models," says Mr. Ed Schneider of the Appleton Auto company.

"Thus the company again draws attention to its record in pioneering developments which at the time of announcement have seemed radical because they meant real business use. "Reo has been testing balloon tires for many months, in its laboratories, on its test cars, and in conjunction with tire manufacturers. Data and facilities Reo accumulated when it pioneered pneumatic tires for trucks in 1915 have been used in many of the tests.

"Back of many automobile features so commonly used now as to be taken for granted, lies the story of tire safety and reasoned judgment of the man who guided Reo through twenty years.

"Contributing consistently toward the permanent betterment of its own product and all others in general, Reo has enhanced its reputation for progressive engineering. In the same measure it has built up an experimental department and engineering organization virtually without parallel in the industry.

"This department functions as fully to prevent mistakes as it does to develop refinements.

"Among the more common improvements which Reo pioneered in the sense of either creating, developing or popularizing in the face of contradictory practices, the following are interesting examples:

"Before 1905 the two piece radiator, consisting of core and shell was almost unknown. Reo popularized it.

"In 1909 Reo adopted left hand drive in a midst of a controversy throughout the industry concerning its suitability for American road rules.

"In the same year Reo adopted the dry disc clutch as standard equipment, and has since watched its general use by the industry. Dual foot control was also made standard with Reo that year it is still used.

"In 1911 Reo pioneered the center control.

"At a time when electric starting and lighting systems were little more than a curiosity, in 1913, Reo adopted both as standard equipment and did much to prove their necessity on the vehicles of all classes.

"Reo pioneered pneumatic tires for trucks by fitting them regularly to the Speed Wagon in 1915. By adding electric starter and lights, it became first to make this equipment standard on strictly commercial vehicles.

"In that year it also introduced on its cars the oval-tube radiator, transmission speedometer, successful use of Lyrite or aluminum alloy pistons.

"Reo is largely responsible for the general use of the spiral bevel gear rear axle, also.

"There are many other features, some of major importance in the chassis, and others related to shop practices, which have helped the industry at large fully as much as Reo alone. Ample returns from its investment in broadvisioned engineering are being enjoyed by Reo today in the form of widespread public confidence and stability of dealer connections."

FLAT RATE FOR ALL ELECTRICAL REPAIR WORK

Nearly always the first question a person asks in having an electrical repair job done is, "how much will it cost." For this reason says Mr. Schroeder of the Appleton Battery & Ignition Station, at 740 Washington St., we have adopted and are using in our shop a flat rate system for starting motors, generators and magnetos.

Special machinery has been installed in our electrical department for testing motors, generators and magnetos, which not only helps in repairing these delicate electrical machines but is also possible for us to perform the task in a shorter time.

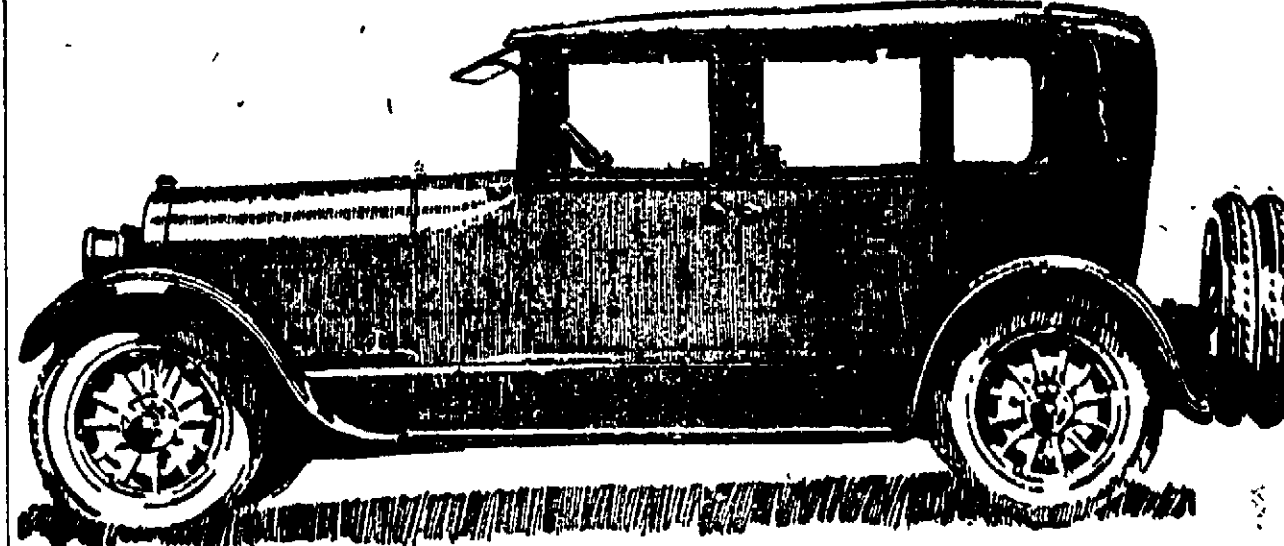

With this system we are able to, after testing and locating the trouble with the electrical unit, give a very close estimate of what the job will cost.

We find this system works out very satisfactorily to our customers.

CHEVROLET OFFICER ELECTED DIRECTOR

At the last annual meeting of stockholders of General Motors Corporation, held at Wilmington, Del., William S. Knudsen, president and general manager of Chevrolet Motor Company, was elected a director. At a meeting of the board of directors held in New York on Tuesday, he was elected a vice president. All the present officers of General Motors Corporation were re-elected.

Mr. Knudsen, formerly vice president in charge of operations of Chevrolet Motor Company, was appointed general manager in January of this year and later elected president. He is well known in the automobile world, having been engaged in the manufacturing branch of the industry since 1908. He has been associated with Chevrolet since early in 1913.

THE CADILLAC SEDAN DE LUXE FOR FIVE

Longer, lower and still more roomy, the Cadillac Sedan this season is a smarter car than ever before. The back is designed with an attractive landaulet effect and is covered with a fine grade of black leather. With its four doors and roomy interior it is extremely comfortable and convenient, while its fashionable appearance gives it marked distinction.

MOON ADOPTS DUCO FINISH FOR CAR BODIES

All Series "A" Cars Have Ducco Finish, with Extra Coat of Varnish

Moon has adopted the new Ducco system of body finishing and is using this latest development in body finish on all models of their Series "A" cars, according to an announcement just made by Carl W. Burst, Vice President and Works Manager of the Moon Motor Car Company.

Therefore Moon now offers the automobile buyer beautiful cars in the popular Marine blue color finished in the most improved way, so that they will retain their beauty and newness much longer than cars finished in the ordinary way.

Moon is using what might be called a "super-Ducco" system of finishing their cars, which is a step further in the direction of a more practical and superior body finish. Moon applies a coat of finishing varnish over the Ducco, producing a high lustre finish which Ducco does not impart, and giving Moon cars a finish that is practical, long-wearing and beautiful as well.

Moon commenced using Ducco early in January when their new lower-priced Series "A" cars were put into production, and contemplate using it on all models.

OAKLAND AGAIN DOPED TO WIN SWEEPSTAKE

Automobile men on the Pacific Coast concede that the Oakland Six has an excellent chance to repeat for the third consecutive year its feats of 1922 and 1923 in winning both the sweepstakes and class cups in the famous annual Los Angeles-Toronto Valley Economy Run to be staged this year May 16th and 17th.

Oakland not only won the sweepstakes and class cups in this event the last two years, but likewise the same two cups in the San Diego-El Centro Economy Run in both 1922 and 1923.

All these contests have been under official observation, governed by the rules of the contest committee of the A.A.A. A ten milego basis is used in arriving at results.

A change in the rules this year is most cordially welcomed by all the entrants. No coasting will be permitted unless the motor is running and the transmission gears in mesh. This ruling will make the driving in the economy run more closely conform to ordinary driving practice.

The route has likewise been changed to avoid the famous ridge over the Tehachapi Mountains because the law permits a speed not to exceed 15 miles per hour on the ridge, and this is said to be too slow for economical driving.

At the last annual meeting of stockholders of General Motors Corporation, held at Wilmington, Del., William S. Knudsen, president and general manager of Chevrolet Motor Company, was elected a director. At a meeting of the board of directors held in New York on Tuesday, he was elected a vice president. All the present officers of General Motors Corporation were re-elected.

Mr. Knudsen, formerly vice president in charge of operations of Chevrolet Motor Company, was appointed general manager in January of this year and later elected president. He is well known in the automobile world, having been engaged in the manufacturing branch of the industry since 1908. He has been associated with Chevrolet since early in 1913.

228 LINCOLN CARS SHIPPED IN ONE WEEK

Detroit, Michigan, May 3, 1924.—All previous records for shipments were broken at the Lincoln Motor Company's Plant here during the week of April 21-25, when that division of the Ford Motor Company, it is just announced, shipped out a total of 228 Lincoln cars. The last high record week was in October, 1923.

How to Check Up Condition of the Battery

If you have your battery supplied with distilled water at regular intervals, and have it fixed in its compartment so that it cannot jolt about or vibrate, the probability is that all the attention it will require is to see that the top of the battery case is clean and the terminal connections are not corroded.

Keep the top of the battery clean at all times, for if dirt, acid or moisture are allowed to collect, it will, in addition to corroding the terminals, cause a slight leakage of current which will gradually run down the battery.

Remove and scrape the terminals bright and clean, then rub a little vasoline over them to stop corroding. If the terminals become corroded, they make a high resistance joint which prevents the battery from delivering its full amperage to the starter or lights. If you find the battery is fully charged, yet the starter operates very sluggishly, examine the connections and contacts on the starting motor switch. If they are badly burned or dirty, clean them with a piece of sand paper.

If, however, you have been in the habit of inspecting the level of the electrolyte in the battery only when you found the starter would not operate properly, or when you notice that the lights become dim, then it is quite possible that the battery is badly sulphated and you will have to secure the services of a competent battery repair man to put it in good condition.

Most batteries, with proper care, will give perfect service for from two to three years. If you have trouble with your battery in less than this time, then it is probably caused by neglect to give it proper attention. In this article I will tell you just what attention it requires to keep it in good order.

KEEP TOP OF BATTERY CLEAN AND TERMINALS FREE FROM CORROSION. REMOVE EXCESSIVE ACID FROM BATTERY CASE. WASH WITH DISTILLED WATER. DRY WITH CLEAN RAG. REPEAT FREQUENTLY.

Why should you be so particular about inspecting the level of the electrolyte in the battery every two weeks? Here is the reason. Before a battery can be charged, the plates inside must be covered with electrolyte. If only part of the plates are covered, then the part that is out of the electrolyte will not receive a charge of current. The generator is designed to supply a certain amount of current to the battery, and the battery plates are designed to absorb this amount of current. If, say, only half of the plates are covered, then that half will receive an excessively high charge which will cause them to heat up, warp and buckle, while the part of the plates out of the electrolyte will sulphate and soon refuse to hold a charge, even although they are afterwards covered with electrolyte. You can readily see, therefore, how important it is that you supply the battery with distilled water REGULARLY.

Before you add water to the cells, they should be tested with the hydrometer to see that the battery is fully charged. To do this, remove vent caps, insert the rubber tube in a cell, then squeeze the bulb and release it slowly, allowing enough electrolyte to be drawn into the hydrometer to float the graduated stem. If the battery is fully charged, the float will rise to between the 1.300 and the 1.280 marks in each cell. If it reads as low as 1.250, do not use the electric starter or the lights until you have given the battery a chance to recover itself. If the reading is 1.225 or less, take it a battery station at once and have it charged up, for if it is left in a partly discharged condition for very long, the plates will sulphate rapidly and the life of the battery consequently reduced.

The battery should be examined every two weeks, and enough PURE DISTILLED WATER added to each cell to bring the level of the electrolyte up to 1/4" above the top of the plates. Do not on any account use city water or water that has been kept in a metal container.

J. D. DORT DISCUSSES BUSINESS OUTLOOK

The Dawes report on the reparations problem and the reception it has met with by practically all of the leading powers is the most encouraging development from the American business man's standpoint since the armistice was signed in 1918.

This is the opinion of J. D. Dort, President of the Dort Motor Car Company, whose views and analyses of fundamental conditions as they relate to our business prosperity have always found wide acceptance.

"There is every reason to believe that the report of the Reparations Committee will be accepted and put into operation," says Mr. Dort. "That means the establishment of a European and especially a Central Powers credit basis, which will immediately open the market for surplus American farm products, a basic requirement for any substantial prosperity in this country."

"The importance of such a settlement as is contemplated and far-reaching effect it is certain to have in every field of American business activity is hardly appreciated as yet.

The farmer has been the weak link in our scheme of things for three years now. Except in isolated sections agricultural conditions have not been normal, and, as a consequence, farmers have been absorbing but a nominal amount of manufactured products with the result that we have uncertain and ever hesitating markets.

"Correct this condition and the American business man has every reason to anticipate great and enduring prosperity.

"In considering this subject it is important to remember while actual warfare ceased in 1918, the cessation of hostilities did not bring with it a practical economical peace. That is promised us now for the first time, and what the armistice meant to the fighting forces of the world in 1918, this proposed reparations settlement will mean to the business man of the world today."

OLDS QUALITY WELL KNOWN 20 YEARS AGO

Two decades ago Phoenix O'Neil, Detroit businessman, took his first automobile ride. Although it seems incredible, he continued living in Detroit and withstood the lure of the motor car until last week when he walked into the Detroit Branch of the Olds Motor Works and bought a car, the same make as the one he had ridden in over 20 years ago.

"I enjoy walking," said Mr. O'Neil, "and for 35 years have attended to my business on foot. But Detroit is Mr. O'Neil was visiting 'Bill' Hands, one of the first Oldsmobile dealers, and one of the first automobile dealers in Detroit, when the Transcontinental Oldsmobile, enroute from San Francisco to New York on the first coast to coast run via the northern route, arrived. O'Neil was given a ride in the little curved dash car at that time, and liked it so well that when more than 20 years later he made up his mind to buy his first automobile, he would have no other make.

The radiator department is called upon to produce 9,000 radiators a day, and materials necessary to attain this output run into surprising figures. In addition to the copper tubing, of which 95 pieces 18-1/2 inches go into every radiator, other materials used in a single day's production of radiators comprises 35 tons of sheet steel, 8 tons of turn plate, 67 tons of brass, 9 tons of solder, 18,000 malleable castings, more than 4 miles of brass tubing for drains and 1,083 gallons of acid.

In the making of a single radiator, 140 operations are necessary and every step of the manufacturing process requires unusual care.

Rigid inspection is maintained all through the process. Every part is closely scrutinized before assembly, and assembled radiators are tested under water at an air pressure of 15 pounds per square inch. Before the finished radiator is sent out from the department it is given a final inspection for quality and appearance.

YOUR FORD RADIATOR IS MADE IN THIS WAY

It takes more than 254 miles of copper tubing a day to supply just one requirement in the radiator department of the Ford Motor Company's plant at Highland Park, Detroit, under the present high production schedule. In other words, the copper tubing used annually for Ford radiators would go around the world three times or if bent into a circle with the earth in the center it would stand eight thousand miles away from the earth's surface.

JAPS-BUILD SHRINES TO MEMORY OF EARTHQUAKE DEAD

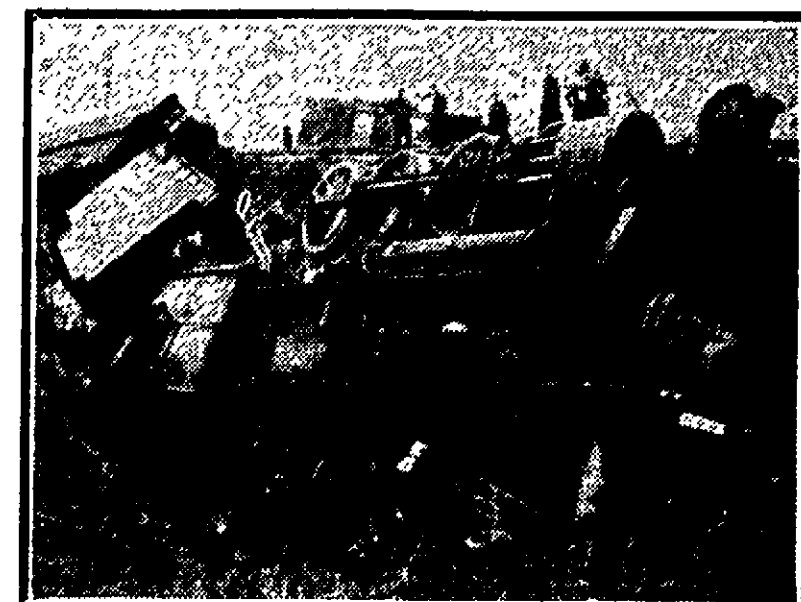

This is the shrine the people of Tokyo have erected on the site of the great Honjo Army Clothing Depot, where thousands were killed in the earthquake of last September.

Here are memorial sticks erected to commemorate the dead in another section of the ancient Nipponese capital.

The Yoshiwara Pond, where 600 were burned to death, always will remain a place of sacred pilgrimage. A fence has been built around it. Outside, hundreds daily kneel in prayer.

Two were killed in this wreck on the Canadian National Railway near Highgate, Saskatchewan. The locomotive struck a boulder, then toppled over an embankment, pinning the fireman and brakeman underneath it. How the rock got onto the tracks has not been ascertained.

Her rent was too high, her husband had fled, and her closest friend was 1,200 miles away. What was Mrs. Doris Wilcox, of Chelsea, Mass., to do? Just what she's doing in the picture. Pack up her effects in the baby buggy, take the children and start off on a Florida trek. But she didn't get far before police attention was attracted and now kindly Bostonians are seeking to provide for her.

You will find motorcycle cops even in the wilds of Africa. They're not quite as tough as speeders over there, though. Here is a typical policeman along Africa's "Gold Coast" taking a part of his family out for a little ride.

Betty, a German police dog owned by W. L. Blake of Pittsburg, recently became mother of several puppies. Eight of them died. Betty, of course, was grief-stricken. About the same time some kittens had been born to the family's pet cat. Why her offspring should die and the cat's be spared was something Betty could not figure. So she chased the cat away and adopted the kittens. Here she is with her new family.

When this new speed demon gets started the occupants don't know for sure whether they're flying or riding. The latest in Paris speedsters, it carries a small airplane motor, built in a light chassis car and the propeller pulls the car along at terrific speed, blowing up a whirlwind of dust and making a deafening noise.

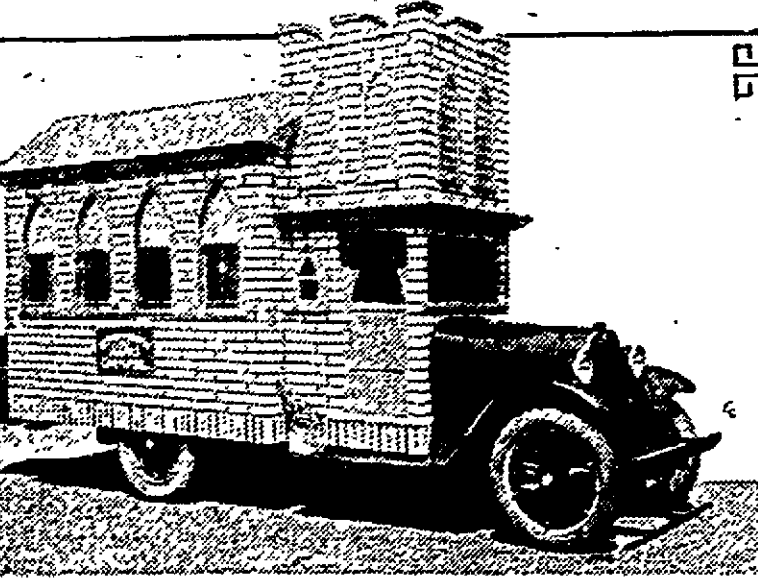

No, this isn't the latest photo of a gentlemen from Mars. It's our old friend the family physician. But how he has changed! The garb he is wearing is the type used during the historic London plague, and other outbreaks of contagious disease. Who knows, the term "quack" may have sprung from the mouth attachment, resembling a duck's bill.

Rev. Ernest Reveal, superintendent of the Rescue Mission at Evansville, Ind., believes in carrying the church to the people. Here is the auto chapel from which he is doing his preaching now. It has stained glass windows, a regular bell up in the "tower" and carries its own organ. Vines growing from pots on the running board are being trained up the sides.

The tornado that swept several Southern states blew this street car 40 feet from its tracks in Anderson county, S. C. Only two on board were injured, and they but slightly.

Then the keyhole was filled with molten lead. The chain keeps him within six feet of his bicycle. The wheel is with him when he eats, sleeps or bathes.

The British steamer Clan MacIvor went to the rescue and took off the passengers, which included a number of Europeans. In lower right may be seen the stern of the rescue ship.

Rosie (upper) and Marie Lammas of Chicago slipped to Milwaukee with Frankie Jummatt and Joseph Palmisano. When the girls came back for the parental blessing, papa and mamma forcibly detained them, the grooms contend. Marie is only 14 and Rosie is just 16, the parents insist. The courts are trying to straighten it out.

He arrested her, but Judge Reeves could find nothing in the statutes that decreed young women had to wear stockings in public and released her.

THIRD POLITICAL PARTY MAY BRING ECONOMIC CHAOS

Lack of Confidence in Radical Legislation Hurts Business, Babson Says

Babson Park, Mass.—"What will be the appearance of a third party do to general business?"

As we face two national conventions next month and sense certain dissension and unrest, the question is probably uppermost in the minds of both business men and investors. It was put today to Roger W. Babson, the business authority.

"It would hurt business," promptly replied the statistician, "because it would weaken confidence and increase uncertainty and it is through confidence that politics can affect business conditions."

"If you will study the figures for previous elections you will find that the generally poor business of these seasons is not due to the fact that there is an election but rather to the fact that conservative and radical interests struggle for control. Whenever both the leading parties have nominated conservative men, business has continued as though no election were in prospect. When radicals have been strong, business has suffered."

WANT CONSERVATIVES
"Calvin Coolidge," says the Republican nomination as a sound conservative and he believes that the vast majority of the citizens are also conservatives. Should the Democrats nominate a conservative man, business confidence will increase materially. But if a radical group comes into the field with a third party, confidence will suffer and business will slow down."

"Are we to have no progress then? The question is natural. From the point of view of business, and I do not mean 'big business' in the usual sense but all business—progress must be made in orderly efficient fashion. If a business man wants to change and improve the machinery in a factory he plans very carefully, orders his new machines and calls in a crew of experts to install them. Then when all is ready the old machines are carefully dismantled and moved out so that they may be put to some other use. The new one are installed and the factory resumes operation with a minimum of loss in both time and money. The radical method in making a similar change would involve dynamite and debris. It is more expensive and usually less productive."

NO UNITY HERE
"The possible third party as it shapes up today, does not represent any unified group that would be solid enough to accomplish any thing in the way of progressive legislation. It is composed rather of an accumulated minority of blocs and factions each bent on trying to get 'something for nothing' for its particular group. Even if one of these proposed schemes were put through it is doubtful if it would work any real benefits for its favored class and the

Rainbow Boys Arrived Home 5 Years Ago Today

Friday, May 16, is the fifth anniversary of the return from foreign service of Company A. One Hundred and Fiftieth Machine Gun Battalion, Forty-second Rainbow Division, which was composed of Appleton and Outagamie-co-boys.

The soldiers reached home about 7 o'clock in the evening and detrained at the corner of College-ave and Cherry-st and marched down College-ave as far as the armory through a solid mass of people.

It was raining at the time, but this did not dampen the ardor of relatives and friends from all over the county, who gave them a rousing reception. The boys broke ranks immediately upon reaching the armory and were given an opportunity to greet their families, relatives and friends who received them with open arms.

economic cost to the rest of the country would be tremendous.

"General business, just now, is none too good. The Babsonchart shows it at 7 per cent below normal—and if we are to avoid serious depression it is well to remember that human progress is made slowly on what we have already tested and found sound. You cannot legislate against economic law any more than you can legislate water to run up hill."

"Lasting progress requires time, earnest effort, and patience—not dynamite," concluded Mr. Babson, "and it is to be hoped that no third party will enter the field to aggravate a real depression when we might otherwise avoid the suffering and loss that such a development brings to everyone."

RETAIL EXECUTIVE BODY APPOINTED

Merchants Consider Parking and Shoplifting Problems at Meeting

Nine members of the retail trades division of the chamber of commerce were elected as an executive committee of the merchants at a meeting at the chamber offices Wednesday. A committee also was appointed to investigate the parking situation and the shoplifting problem was given consideration.

Members of the executive committee are: John H. Neller, chairman, J. B. Langenberg, secretary, C. E. Mullen H. A. Gloudemans, John R. Diderich, F. H. Zahrt, Walter Joyce, W. O. Thiede and F. E. Schilz. The committee was appointed to look after matters of interest to the retailers, because frequent meetings of the entire division were considered impracticable.

Ambrose Wilton was appointed as chairman of the parking committee and is to name his helpers. All available parking sites in the downtown district will be listed and merchants and others who use their cars daily will be urged to park there. This information will be furnished the city council as a means of assisting in relief from the parking problem.

Relation of punishment to the gravity of the larceny committed recently by a group of Green Bay shoplifters will be investigated by the merchants, as they feel that cases of this kind should be dealt with strictly by the courts if the thefts are of large amounts of goods. The retailers are interested in stringent handling of shoplifting cases as a means of protecting the stores.

All merchants will be urged to attend a meeting at Valley Inn, Neenan, at 2:30 on the afternoon of May 21, where merchants from the Central Fox river valley will gather to discuss problems and policies. It will be similar to a gathering at Appleton about two years ago, where 100 retailers were present. There will be a dinner in the evening.

Menasha Woodenware Co. Has Changed Its Product

Menasha—Menasha, home of a large portion of the world's wooden ware, has been almost a complete turnover in the industry in the past decade, manufacturers here say. Where the mill at one time produced the world's supply of candy pails, when candy was a confection that came almost exclusively in the old-fashioned container, the mills have dropped the candy pails as the leader and have gone in for the manufacture of butter tubs, kegs and barrels.

CARDBOARD IS SETBACK
Introduction of cardboard and paper wrapped containers for candy by confectionery manufacturers put a decided "crimp" in the candy pail business, these mill men say. To keep the lead as the manufacturing city of more woodenware than any other city in the northwest, perhaps in the country, the mill men were hard put to find a commodity that would take the place held for so many years by the modest candy pail.

Eventually, a good market was seen in the manufacture of butter tubs, which in the past few years has become the leader in the industry. The keg and barrel business also has bloomed along with the chesty butter tub, thereby maintaining the whole woodenware business as a flourishing industry despite the decline of favor for the candy pail.

THEIR OWN CARS
In the railroad yards of Menasha, it is a common sight to see scores of green, painted box cars labeled with the name of Menasha's leading woodenware company. These cars are but a few of the company's rolling stock that supply the cities of the country with butter tubs, barrels, kegs, and candy pails. Some of the cars are returning to the mills, others are being loaded with woodenware and still others are waiting the services of the busy switchman in the local yards.

Wherever Menasha-made "butter tubs and coopered articles go, so goes also the Menasha green painted box cars to advertise to the country Wisconsin products.

TOURISTS URGED TO SAVE BEAUTY

Countryside Will Be Desolate Unless Autoists Are More Careful

Prospects for a more satisfactory touring season for motor car owners were brightened this week when the American Automobile association issued an appeal to all tourists to refrain from any form of carelessness in their habits that might tend to desecrate the countryside.

According to Thomas P. Henry, president of the American Automobile association, the countryside must be kept attractive as an investment in touring satisfaction, and the tourist, he points out, has a direct interest in furthering the movement in each individual act.

Mr. Henry feels that the subject is far too important to be spoken of in anything but specific terms. Accordingly he has made the following definite requests:

LEAVE THE FLOWERS
"When you come to a beauty spot that has been wrecked by an earlier picnic party don't complain. See that you don't leave a similar sight for the motor tourist who follows you."

"A wildflower on the bush is worth 10 in the tannoy, withered and trampled. Leave the flowers where you can enjoy them most."

"Debris is dangerous. The careless smoker plus the littered picnic spot result in the forest fires that wreck the countryside, literally and figuratively. Bare hills encourage swollen streams and floods. Floods ruin the roads and lay waste the valleys."

IS PERSONAL DUTY
There are many roadways that will never be attractive again, and the number of beauty spots in America is decreasing. The tourist always selects the cream of countryside beauty, and if each motor party leaves behind it a trail of ruin it will not be long before old timers will be talking of the countryside that used to be.

"This is what will happen if tourists fail to appreciate the fact that the problem is a matter of personal duty. It requires only a few broken bottles, some tin cans, a defunct tire and a few discarded newspapers to make an ideal spot the last word in unsightliness. Just one tourist party can put out of business a spot that might otherwise be of unending delight to hundreds of other people who take pride in the country and who know that if they do not preserve it no one else can do it for them."

"When you are tempted to wreck some ideal location you have selected for your evening rest or your noon-day tour luncheon, just keep in mind the fact that you'll probably come back again some day and taste of your own selfishness. The country is not so large that 15,000,000 tourists can wreck each beauty spot they chance upon and never return to it again."

For 32 Years Bohon Has Fired Engine and Did Not Miss Day Until Stomach Troubles Hit Him—Tanlac Overcame them All.

Thirty-two years of firing railroad locomotives of all types, coal burners and oil burners, 75-ton engines and 250-ton engines, without once "giving out" on the road, is a record of which E. S. Bohon, popular M. K. & T. fireman, 520 East 11th-St., Sedalia, Mo., justly speaks with pride.

"Many a time," says Mr. Bohon, who is now assigned to "The Katy Flyer" between Sedalia and Parsons, one of the fastest trains on the M. K. & T., "I have fired an engine that consumed twenty tons of coal in 160 miles and I now make 320 miles every other day, so you can see what strength I have to put out. But I haven't had to worry about strength and endurance for the past five years for I have a medicine that keeps me fit for my work all the time—this

ACCEPTS $1,000 AS PAY FOR INJURIES

Parties to the action of Paul Koehnke vs. George Kelley Thursday stipulated upon a special verdict of $1,000 for the defendant and thus obviated the necessity for a trial.

The case grew out of an automobile accident on state trunk highway 122 on July 15, 1922, young Koehnke was injured at the time when he had climbed out of his father's car to perform some repairs and was struck by the Kelly automobile.

Koehnke's father, John Koehnke, was previously awarded damages of $391.50 in a case which he had started against Kelly on the basis of the same accident.

OAT CROP RUINED SO FARMERS MUST OBTAIN MORE HAY

Amundsen Urges Oats and Peas Sowed Together for Emergency Hay Crop

Now that Outagamie-co farmers are confronted with the situation of having probably no crop of oats this year on account of the many rains and the lateness of the season, farmers are advised to make out an emergency hay crop.
R. A. Amundsen, county agriculturist, suggests that a combination of oats and peas will make a good emergency hay crop. This will be helpful for farmers whose hay crop was killed out last year, and that means most of the farmers.
The seed should be mixed half and half with about a bushel and a half of each per acre. This is very adaptable for the sowing of clover and alfalfa which may be sown with the oats and peas, for next year's hay crop. Soy beans also will make a good hay crop, but oats and peas are better for the reason that clover and alfalfa may be sown with them. One may use any of the common peas, either the yellow or the green peas, or whatever can be obtained at this time. The hay crop should be cut just before the oats begin to ripen.
Weather conditions have completely upset farmers' plans in regard to the grain crop. Hot weather will be here before the oats has a chance to fill out. It is felt that the only substitute for grain is corn which may be raised in greater abundance this year.

AUTOMOBILE HITS CONCRETE BRIDGE

Returning home from Kaukauna about 11 o'clock Thursday night where he had taken a passenger, Frank S. The car is at the McCann garage with the right side badly damaged. The right front wheel was smashed, radiator and axle bent, windshield broken, running board and body of the car bent and twisted and right headlight missing. The driver escaped with a few slight cuts and bruises.

ROYAL CLOCKS ARE HALF AN HOUR FAST

By Associated Press
London — The announcement that King George would eat his Christmas dinner at 8:30 o'clock at Sandringham caused surprise for it is against custom for His Majesty to dine at any other time than 8 o'clock.

This, however, has been explained by a generally unknown fact that for more than half a century all of the clocks at the royal estate at Sandringham have been kept half an hour ahead of Greenwich time. The idea was introduced by King Edward when Prince of Wales, and was borrowed by him from a neighbor, the late Earl of Leicester, to whom in the early days of their married life the late king and his bride were frequent visitors.

It was the earl's custom to keep all of the clocks on his estate half an hour fast so as to insure punctuality. The prince was so taken with the idea that he adopted it.

This seemed to have been unnecessary for so punctual at most times was the late king that he gained the reputation of "never being late."

So well was the custom worked out in practice and so deep rooted as it among the villagers, that there is no other time in the village and even the trains stopping there use it.

BRADFORD NAMED AS RECEIVER FOR PEAT PRODUCTS CO.

Company Formed to Make Fuel in Center Swamp Unable to Pay Bills

A sheriff's sale of Appleton Peat Products company land in Grand Chute, scheduled for Thursday, was canceled by Sheriff Otto H. Zuehlke, in view of the fact that the company has gone into the hands of a receiver. Forty acres of land including the buildings thereon were to be sold to satisfy a municipal court judgment in favor of W. S. Patterson company.

An action asking for the appointment of a receiver was commenced the latter part of May by S. W. Murphy, president of the company. Attorney P. S. Bradford was appointed by Judge Edgar V. Werner in circuit court as receiver. The action was directed jointly against the Appleton Peat Products company, the S. Patterson company and the Northern Boiler and Structural Iron Works, the latter two being creditors of the company.

The affairs of the company will be administered by the company receiver and all claims against the company will be handled by him. The company was organized in Appleton, four years ago with an initial capitalization of $50,000. Five hundred acres of land in Center swamp in Grand Chute were acquired and a large building worth probably $75,000 and equipped with machinery was erected on the site.

The industry was organized for the purpose of converting the peat in the bog into fertilizer and fuel. It was in operation for about a year, but the last two years the plant has practically been abandoned. The organizer of the company, C. A. Williams, has since organized another products company at Munising, Mich.

NEED 40 AUTOS FOR MEMORIAL PARADE

Owners of automobiles are asked by the transportation committee for Memorial day to make their plans in such a way that their cars will be available for use in conveying the aged Civil war veterans and women in the parade to and from Riverside cemetery.

It is estimated that 40 automobiles will be needed for part of the afternoon. The list is being compiled and volunteers are asked. Those who will provide transportation are asked to telephone James H. Ballist at number 22 and indicate how many their car will carry.

This information is desired at once so the list will be completed well ahead of May 30.

F. R. A. CONVENTION IS TO BE HELD IN MARINETTE

Michigan and Wisconsin conventions of the Fraternal Reserve association will be held at Marinette, Mich., and Marinette, Wis., on the same dates late in July. The programs will include an interchange of hospitality across the river. Delegates from Wisconsin will number about 1,200 and the Michigan delegation 600.

F. R. Hicks, Oshkosh, national president of the association, was in conference with Charles Whitton, president of the Michigan state council. A four-day meeting with morning sessions devoted to business and afternoons to entertainment is planned.

GRESL FARM AUCTION IS ATTENDED BY 1,000

Fred Morris returned Thursday from a business trip to Chicago.

EXHIBIT OF WORK AT LINCOLN SCHOOL

Youngsters Present Program and Show Parents What They Have Done

Each grade in the Lincoln school contributed one part of the program that was presented in connection with the annual exhibit in the schoolhouse Thursday afternoon and evening. The purpose of the exhibits is to give an accurate idea of the work that is accomplished by the pupils, both the best and the poorest.

The tiny kindergarten folks gave a dance of the brownies and fairies, the first and second grades dramatized the reading lessons, seven boys of the third and fourth grades sang a song about the seven dwarfs, the fifth grade presented a pantomime, the sixth grade demonstrated a phase of its geography lesson, the seventh grade played phonograph records of Kellogg's bird voices illustrating them with pictures of birds, Wilmer Schinler of the eighth grade south played a violin solo and Anita Tiedt of the eighth grade north gave a reading, "Johnny's History Lesson." The boys and girls acquitted themselves well in each instance.

In all the rooms are examples of the work of the children. The display included art work, arithmetic lessons and projects, spelling lessons, sewing and manual training projects, examples of reading lessons and the teaching of reading, projects that different classes have worked upon and grammar work.

The third grade had a miniature city representing Appleton in one corner of the room and many of the other rooms had parts of houses furnished and decorated. The seventh grade arithmetic class displayed excellent examples of the thrift work studied.

Home Rule Amendment Will Provide Means Of Making Streets Uniform

Active measures are being taken by the city of Appleton to make future street plans conform with streets already laid out.

Appleton, like a number of cities that had spasmodic periods of growth, is handicapped with a situation that is unknown in cities whose streets are laid out systematically.

Second-ave is practically the only street in the city that runs the entire length of the city without a curve, turn or jog. There are short streets, long streets, diagonal streets, streets that stop in the center of a block and then continue beyond and streets that have irregular continuations, such as those intersecting Richmond-st.

THREE VILLAGES HERE

While R. M. Connelly, city engineer, believes that Appleton is no more handicapped in this respect than a number of other cities, he sees no reason for continuing in this haphazard method of laying out streets. The council has already taken some corrective measures and it is possible that the same course will be adhered to in the future.

One of the reasons why the streets are so irregular in their course and the blocks so irregular in size is because Appleton owes its origin to three different attempts at planting villages. A settlement was started in what is now the Second ward, another plat was laid out in the First ward and a third in the Third ward, the three plats being formally known as Appleton, Lawesburg and Grand Chute.

PICTURE PUZZLE

The unsatisfactory laying out of blocks and streets by subsequent platters also resulted in the picture puzzle that a birds eye view of Appleton's streets presents.

Poorly laid out plats were accepted by former city councils, and where the city refused to accept a plat, the owners of the plats sold the land in parcels by metes and bounds which are the horror of assessment and tax records.

AUTHORITY LIMITED

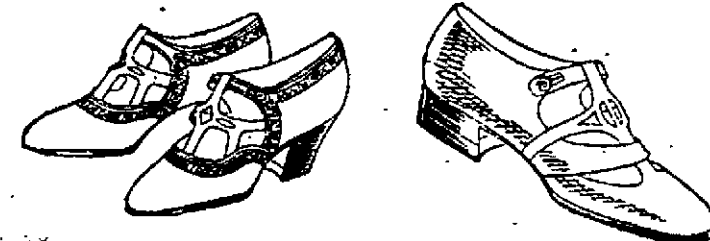

In the future the city will be guided by the policy of making all new plats conform with existing streets to prevent jogs in streets as exist along Richmond-st., Story-st. and other streets. But the city's authority is limited in these matters and cannot be exercised fully until the home rule amendment which will be voted on in the November election is passed, according to Mr. Connelly.

The city of Chicago annually spends millions of dollars to straighten out streets and remove similar defects in the regularity of streets. Similar corrective work may sometime have to be undertaken by Appleton, especially at such corners as College-ave and Richmond-st. and at Second and Mason-sts. Professor Leonard S. Smith, city planner, once recommended that Onondaga-st be widened and that a diagonal street be extended way through the city adjoining the Chicago and Northwestern Railway company right of way. The street could be made arterial and would provide a short cut through the city, as State-st, Prospect-ave and Maple Grove-st already do.

There is no Safe Substitute for True Gasoline

The Power You Buy Should Run 7 More Cars

THE automobile is so far from perfect that always—every mile—you are losing seven times as much gas as goes into actual travel.

Friction, wind pressure, heat-loss, slippage—all these and a dozen more are constantly dragging at your power, until it's down where the engineers say not more than twelve-and-a-half per cent is converted into miles of progress.

That's a bare one-eighth of the power that you have paid for. With such a handicap prevailing with even the best fuel that you can buy, can you afford to cut still farther into the final margin by using a low grade, kerosene-laden fuel that is admittedly of low efficiency to start with?

Wadhams True Gasoline

can't kill friction, wind-pressure or the other unavoidable "loads" which physical conditions impose on your motor. But it can and does deliver that "usable eighth" intact.

No kerosene or free carbon clog its substance. It starts with a minimum of priming in the coldest weather; it drives without the wasteful over-richness of mixture needed with common brand fuels.

You secure outstandingly greater value whether you measure it in motor condition, miles traveled, comfort in starting and driving, or in actual money paid for your season's gasoline supply.

Make Game Of Feeding Young Child

Appeal to Competitive Instinct Will Make Youngster Eat Right Food

BY SALLY LUCAS JEAN
Director of Health Education, American Child Health Association

Does your child refuse to eat green vegetables? Does he beg for cake and candy? Does he hate to go to bed early? Is he, in spite of everything you can do, thin and nervous and irritable?

If so you have gone at him in the wrong way. A child's psychology is much the same as that of an adult. The feminine instinct to be beautiful and the masculine desire to be strong are so deeply rooted in the human race that they begin in babyhood.

For years I have been trying to find a way to appeal to children so that they would find pleasure in taking the simplest health measures. It was easy enough to impress the parents, but the children were profoundly indifferent.

Finally, I found a way that works. It does no good to say "Johnnie, eat your oatmeal because it's good for you" but ask John if he wants to be strong like Demsey or a good fighter or the captain of a football team. Don't say a word about oatmeal or fresh vegetables. Don't nag him about brushing his teeth or taking a bath. Ask his sister Mary if she wants bright eyes and rosy cheeks and if she wants to be a good dancer or have pretty hair.

Appeal to the competitive instinct in children. Who can gain the most weight? Who drinks the most milk? Who eats the most vegetables? Make a game of keeping up the weight. After a child once sees that drinking milk or eating vegetables will help him gain weight, you won't have to emphasize the other rules of the game.

We must lift the children of today on the shoulders of the older generation. This cannot be done in the old-fashioned way. The old generation learned the number of bones in the body. The new generation learned the names of the various organs. This did not produce health.

We are trying to make health a happy, joyous part of the daily living and to do this we must vitalize health information.

Household Suggestions

COOKING VEAL

Veal contains little fat, so pork or butter are necessarily added while cooking and more seasoning is required than for pork or beef.

FRIED APPLES

After cooking pork chops fill the skillet with slices of apple cut one-half an inch thick and fry them in the fat that is left. Then arrange as a garnish on the platter with the meat.

AVOID SOGGY PIES

Many pies are soggy because they are undercooked. From 35 to 40 minutes is required to bake a pie thoroughly and brown it well.

FOR CURTAIN RODS

A brass curtain rod should be on a soft cloth—so that the rings will run smoothly.

HEALTHFUL DESSERT

A delicious and healthful dessert is made by arranging slices of orange on a dish and covering it with boiled custard. After it has been chilled cover with meringue or a marshmallow sauce.

WATCH YOUR TEA

Long steeping destroys the delicate flavor of tea and develops acids that may prove injurious.

MOPPING FLOORS

In mopping a floor be careful not to use too much water as this swells the boards and warps them.

If you give a dinner, whether it be a great one of 200 covers or a small one of six, you should invite only those people who are congenial to one another. And your drawing room should be adequate in size to the number of guests.

LETTER FROM RUTH ELLINGTON TO LESLIE PRESCOTT

MY DEAR LESLIE:

I have certainly gotten in bad with Jack now if I never did before. You see I made the deal with the black-mailing gentleman and bought the pearl for four thousand dollars, which I think was a pretty good stroke of business.

Not knowing what to do with it and the remainder of the money—for I did not dare deposit it to my account—I decided I would go and put it in the safety deposit vault in your bedroom.

I arrived at your place about five o'clock in the afternoon and was just opening your vault when, without any warning, Jack came in. Naturally he looked surprised and very suspicious.

I informed him that I had made some stupendous sales and I did not want to deposit the money in the bank right away and that I was sure you would not mind my using the vault for a night or two.

He jumped at the conclusion that Harry was sending me money and that I did not want to deposit it, on account of Harry's creditors who might attack it. He said immediately, "You needn't feel at all alarmed about me, Ruth, although I am Harry's largest creditor. But I would rather you would not leave the money in Leslie's wall safe. In fact, I think Leslie's very foolish to have given you the combination. I myself did not know it."

He was perfectly furious, Leslie, and I very meekly took my little roll of bills—which by the way was not so little, and I was sure that he had measured its size—and put it in my pocket. In doing so that trouble some pearl fell upon the floor.

Fortunately it was rolled up in tissue paper. Jack and I both stooped for it and reached it at about the same time—at least our heads came together with a terrible concussion: "I beg your pardon," I said.

Jack was so angry that I knew he would burst if he didn't swear, so I said, "Go ahead and say it." And he certainly said it, Ruth.

In a voice of cutting coldness he mentioned that he hoped he would never find me prying into his wife's secret hiding places again when she was away. In fact, that he would feel better if he knew his wife never met me again.

I fled and there the matter stands. Sorry, but that's all.

Dimples And Ruffles
Not Enough To Mold
Successful WomanEnglish Policewoman Says
Womanhood, Not Feminism
Is What Counts—Must Be Able to Meet Men on Equal Footings.

New York—Femininity or womanhood—which?

"Womanhood is what counts," says Commandant Mary S. Allen, the English policewoman who has come to this country to study the methods of our policewomen.

"When a woman drops some of her feminine characteristics she need not necessarily be any less a woman for so doing," she declares.

And, she doesn't regret losing her femininity, as she admits she has by cutting her hair man fashion and adopting the blue uniform with its mannish coat trousers and visored cap of the English policeman, because she feels that she has gained something better—the ability to help others of her sex.

"The uniform means protection," she maintains. "Any woman who adopts it must put womanhood above femininity."

"The woman who concerns herself with curls ruffles dimples and fancy clothes and the externals of life is not the one who better the conditions under which women must live. So long as women think only femininity is necessary to gain their ends they will get only what men are willing to give them, for they want everything for themselves as a tribute to their charms."

"But the woman who develops womanhood rather than femininity dispenses with wiles and tricks, discards those advantages that are hers by reason of her sex if she wants to claim them, and meets men on an equal footing and demands rights for all women as well as for herself."

Not that Miss Allen objects to beautiful clothes or feminine charm, except when they are a woman's only stock in trade and they blind her to her real possibilities and responsibilities.

Commandant Allen was the first policewoman of England. She organized the work in London before the war and insisted upon the adoption of a standard uniform which would stand for fair play and justice and would inspire confidence in women.

Dons Sheriff's Star When Her
Mate Is Shot

Baton Rouge, La.—Sheriff Day of East Baton Rouge Parish was killed leading a raid on a negro gambling house.

Reprisals by his friends brought on a race riot. Half the town of Dixie was burned down. Deputy sheriffs couldn't quell the outbreaks. Then Governor Farker appointed the sheriff's widow, Mrs. Eudora S. Day, as her husband's successor. She quickly restored order.

Now harmony between the two races gradually is returning. The negroes, who fled with the mobs at their heels, are back in Dixie again.

And Sheriff Day is boomed as a candidate to succeed herself in the coming elections.

Mrs. Day is 45 and the mother of four children.

She's always been a home woman, though church activities also have occupied considerable of her time.

However, comma—

New York. A short time ago we modestly predicted that the next theatrical season was going to give birth to a flock of mystery plays. Well, the first one has arrived—and it's a girl! It's called "The Bride."

These late shows really forecast the coming season. We often wondered why the past season so completely ignored mystery plays. The public likes them. And it will especially like this one, which stars the popular favorite Peggy Wood.

Peggy is the girl who makes a sudden entrance into the lives of two girl-shy bachelors. She comes in through a skylight window. Then things happen. It doesn't matter here what happens because to tell would spoil the fun of many who will see the play during the coming summer months.

And we hope many will see the play. Not because it is a powerful piece, for it isn't. Not because it is the great American play, for it isn't. Not only because it keeps you guessing until the final curtain, which it does. But because besides having a wealth of mystery, it also has an abundance of wholesome humor.

FOR TOMATOES

If you peel tomatoes by dipping them in boiling hot water, be careful always to chill them again before combining with the other salad ingredients. Nothing is less appetizing than a salad that is not crisp and cool.

Tries Kellogg's Bran—restores health after 12 years of intense suffering

Mr. Firth writes that he suffered for 12 years from constipation and his friend for 10 years—a total of 22 years' suffering permanently relieved by Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled.

Gentlemen:
For 12 years I had been troubled with indigestion caused mostly by constipation. Until about a year ago, I would suffer from 4 to 20 weeks at a time.

I happened to see your Krumbled Bran in a store, purchased a package and got almost immediate relief. I am still eating the Krumbled Bran every day.

The most wonderful results obtained with your Krumbled Bran I will now relate. A gentleman who has been taking medicine for about 10 years for constipation could not find anything to give him relief. Three weeks ago I advised him to try Krumbled Bran, as I had told him what wonderful results I had gotten from it. The gentleman in question purchased a box, and he told me that for the first time in ten years he is regular without taking medicine.

Yours for success,
William Firth, Jr., 55 Volan St., Merchantville, N. J.

Eaten regularly, Kellogg's Bran is guaranteed to relieve the most chronic case of constipation, or your grocer returns your money. Eat two table-spoonfuls daily—in chronic cases, with every meal. The flavor is delicious. Try it in the recipes on every package. Made in Battle Creek. Sold by all grocers.

GET PERMIT FOR YOUR CAR IF YOU HAVEN'T LICENSE

Police Department Puts Stop to Practice of Driving Without Plates

Hereafter there will be no excuse for the motorist who fails to display an automobile license plate. The automobile owner who has ordered a license from the secretary of state and would use the car before the license arrives, must procure a temporary permit from the Appleton police department.

The department is adopting the custom already in use in Fond du Lac, Oshkosh, Kaukauna and other cities of the Fox River valley, namely that of issuing temporary license plates to motorists who have applied to the secretary of state.

Display of these permits will be ample protection to any new car owner and will save him a good deal of embarrassment. Instead of the cardboard permits, as issued by some cities, the Appleton department will have on sale metal license plates, to be attached to the front and rear of the car until it is supplied by the regular license plate.

The plates are similar to those issued by the state. They are made by the prisoners at Waupun. A supply of 200, signs has been ordered by Chief George T. Prim, and they will be on sale Monday. Upon applying for a pair, the motorist will make a deposit of $1.75 cents of which will be refunded when the plates are returned. In this manner the signs will pay for themselves.
